EXPERIMENT FOR SALE.

Seattle to Offer its Railways.

An End of the Municipal Ownership Fever in the North is Nigh.

Resolution to Peddle Two Street-car Lines to Private Interests.

People up There are Sick and Tired of Making Money Backwards.

SEATTLE, Nov. 30.—Taking the first step toward the sale of all Seattle's municipally owned street railways to private interests, the City Council today referred to a committee the whole question to a referendum of the voters.

Elected to the City Council as a strong advocate of municipal ownership, Councilman Allen Dale believes there has come a parting of the ways between those Councilmen and city officials whose policies lead straight in the direction of a municipal poor house and those who, on the other hand, would cling to sanity in the handling of the city's financial affairs besides trying to deal on the square with the people themselves.

Therefore, Councilman Dale officially put forward the suggestion that the city would profit if it sold the two municipal street railway lines, the Lake Burien system, running from

WHY FEED LAZYBONES?

Unemployed of Seattle Refuse to Carry Spuds for Their Own Dinners.

SEATTLE, Nov. 30.—Henry Pauly, manager of the Hotel Liberty, equipped by the city for the purpose of caring for the unemployed, resigned today, saying that he had found among $22 men at the institution not enough help to do the work about the place. The men had refused even to carry in wood or potatoes. Last year Pauly was manager of the Hotel de Gink, which, being not directly under city control, excluded all men not willing to work. In the new hotel all comers are accepted.

A NET LOSS. The southern part of the city to a recently-platted suburb, and Division A, running from the upper business district to Ballard, shingle mill section of Seattle, the Puget Sound Traction, Light and Power Company, if that corporation could be induced to buy them.

A net loss of $2000 per month by the city's first dip into operation of municipally owned street car lines, and the interminable troubles over the Seattle, Renton and Southern system as well as the void in the city's financial statistics where there should be dividends, leads Councilman Dale to believe the time is here for some radical action by the people. His bill would have the people vote on a proposition for the people to sell to the electric company Division A and the Lake Burien line and he would also like to see that company buy out the Seattle, Renton and Southern and the Council grant franchises for certain extensions. Councilman Dale is an advocate of municipal ownership, but only when the utilities owned and operated can be made at least self-sustaining and to serve the people in an adequate manner. If the city is not able to make its utilities pay their own way Dale believes that the Council and other city officials should limit their activities to a proper regulation of the utilities operated by private corporations.

Cannon at the Feast Where the Vision of Victory is Beholden.

Divert the Pork Barrel Fund to Army and Navy, the New Creed.

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Nov. 30.—The Republican Presidential bee began buzzing today at a Hamilton Club luncheon.

It rang dangerously near the ears of Senator Lawrence Y. Sherman, whose victory in the Illinois Senatorial fight has brought him into the nation's eye as possible 1916 Presidential timber.

"Uncle Joe" Cannon was present, but if he heard the buzzing had nothing to say. Other prominent State and local leaders sat at the festal board and listened to ringing announcements of old-time Republican doctrine.

One of the issues of 1916 was clearly defined by Senator Sherman. It was hinged on the Republican advocacy of a larger army and navy as opposed to the Democratic policy of retrenchment.

Sherman already has been boomed by his friends as a strong Republican Presidential candidate for 1916, and, in the eyes of many of the wise ones, he is out now making hay. These friends forecast that he will sweep the country by showing that the country's defenses are weak and should be built up.

His speech shows how carefully he has approached the subject. While "Uncle Joe" Cannon and the other politicians present close attention to his remarks, Senator Sherman told how the country could save $70,000,000 a year by putting an end to pork barrel appropriations. This money, he added, could be spent on the army and navy.

"NOT THE TIME," SAYS WILSON.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—While President Wilson is not expected to seek to mold the position of Congress on the resolution of Representative Gardner for an investigation of the military strength of the United States, officials close to the White House said tonight he would oppose the investigation if asked for an opinion. The President is understood to think that such an inquiry would not be a proper disclosure of information not already in hand.

The President's position was made clear tonight by administration officials after it became known that he had written Mr. Gardner a letter, saying he was ready to discuss the question with him at any time. Mr. Gardner will be at the White House tomorrow to make an announcement for an investigation of the military strength of the United States.

The position of the administration toward the Gardner resolution, as outlined tonight, is that this is no time to agitate the question of the preparedness of the United States for war. The President is hopeful that the nation may play an important part in bringing the present European war to a close and his advisors believe suggestions for peace would come with bad grace from a country in the throes of a discussion of possible war.

Another reason given by administration leaders for opposing the Gardner resolution, is that in his speech opposing the movement, Mr. Gardner attacked Germany and they think the adoption of his resolution would make it appear that the action was directed principally at that nation.

When the resolution was first introduced the President characterized the proposed investigation as "pleasant mental exercise," and said the results achieved by such an investigation would depend entirely on the character of the committee.

Administration leaders said tonight that the President realizes the importance of the military strength of the United States in the present war and takes the position that everything possible should be learned by the United States, though the time to act upon the results is a proper time for military discussions in Congress.

PALM BEACH (Fla.) Nov. 30.—Richard C. Croker, former chief of Tammany, and his Indian bride, are enjoying a quiet honeymoon at his magnificent estate just outside this city. They expect to remain here until April, perhaps longer, and then contemplate an extended journey to the ancestral lands of Mrs. Croker. They had originally planned a tour of Europe, but the war has caused radical changes in their itinerary and both of them profess to be pleased that they will have more time to become acquainted with their own country.

GERMANS EXERT GREATEST EFFORT AGAINST RUSSIA.

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Nov. 30.—The absence of important operations in France and Belgium is the best evidence of the great effort that Germany is making in Poland. In the first days of the war she launched practically all her military strength on the campaign against Paris. In the east she retained only three army corps of first-line troops, depending upon the slowness of the Russian mobilization to afford time for the mobilization of the German reserves.

Germany seems now to be attempting the opposite move. By placing her troops in the west on the defensive she is able to divert the rest of her military strength toward Russia. The exact German plan cannot yet be detected, but she seems now to be exerting against Russia the greatest effort of which she is capable.

Along the battle line in France and Belgium there are more than 4,000,000 men altogether in the contending armies. It is very unlikely that they will long be held without starting some large-scale movement of troops. Heretofore the Germans have pinned their faith upon active operations in the west in order to break down the French and British resistance, while the latter were not yet fully developed. The costly repulses along the Yser led them finally to give up this attempt and to turn eastward against the Russians.

The plan of the allies in the west to co-operate with the Russians makes it now incumbent upon them to adopt an energetic campaign in order to prevent Germany from carrying out her undisturbed her strategic concentration of troops in the east. The plan is very different from the isolated attacks that have been reported during the last three weeks. The campaign will start with heavy bombardment and local attacks all along the line. At a few points the Germans will find these forces pressed than others and it will turn out that the allies have prepared rail transportation for eight or ten army corps to be rushed into any gap that may be developed by these first assaults. This is what the Germans attempted to do in their fierce assaults upon the allies' line between Dixmude and Ypres. If they can now oppose a powerful artillery fire and a line of steadfast infantry, Kaiser at the Front to Watch the Ebb and Flow of the Human Tide—King of England Crosses the Channel to Cheer His Soldiers at the Front—Conflicting Information in Official Reports.

BERLIN (via The Hague to London) Nov. 30, 10:55 p.m.—The east is gradually coming into its own. Those familiar with conditions have recognized for the last three weeks that the center of importance has been transferred from France to the eastern front. The appointment of Gen. Von Hindenburg as a field marshal and the publication of appreciative telegrams to the eastern commanders have directed the attention even of the ununiformed public to the fact that events in Poland are of far greater importance than those in Flanders and along the Aisne.

The presence of Emperor William at Field Marshal Von Hindenburg's headquarters is interpreted here as indicating that everything is thought to be going well. The Emperor has conferred the Order of Merit on Gen. Mackensen for his victory at Lodz in the following telegram:

"The Ninth Army Corps under your safe and tested leadership has again fought with unrivaled brilliancy in a hard but successful battle. Your achievements in the past days will stand in history as shining examples of fortitude, endurance and valor."

"Communicate this to our splendid troops with my imperial thanks, in which I wish to give tangible form by conferring upon you the Order of Merit. God be with you and our standards in the future."

Gen. Mackensen, in an order of the day, issued when he had received the Emperor's telegram, said:

"I am rejoiced to announce to my heroic troops this sign of appreciation, which belongs to the whole Ninth Army."

Gen. Mackensen long has been regarded as one of the most brilliant of the German generals. He is the trusted adjutant of Field Marshal Count Von Schlieffen when he was chief of the German Staff and instructed Emperor William in military history. The Emperor later selected him as the immediate superior of the Crown Prince in the Danzig garrison. There is nothing new to report from the west front.

STILL NO DECISION IN POLAND BATTLE.

LONDON, Nov. 30, 11:05 p.m.—Another day of the crucial battle between the Russians and the German allies in Poland has passed without news of a decisive result. The Berlin official statement tonight says that there is nothing of importance to report from Poland, while the Russian government rests upon its warning against over-optimism.

WILEY'S SPECIAL FOOD FOR THE BELGIAN BABIES.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Boxes of assorted foods, prepared especially for babies and invalids, in accordance with the plan made out by Dr. Harvey W. Wiley of Washington, D. C., are to be sent to Belgium by the women's section of the American commission for relief in Belgium. It was announced at the New York headquarters of the commission tonight.

By means of these "baby boxes" it is thought, the lives of a million babies and children who are suffering from lack of proper food may be saved.

The commission stated that the food sent heretofore has been intended mainly for the adult population, and thus was not so delicate as was required for the sustenance of infants.

By the new plan, thirty-pound packages will be prepared and marked with a white band and on arrival in Europe they can be sent immediately to all children's hospitals. Sixty-pound boxes of ideal food for invalids or adults, with blue or red bands, respectively, also will be forwarded.

The presidents of fourteen State federations of women's clubs have agreed to place at the disposal of the committee of the women's section of the commission within the last three days. It was announced tonight, and pressed their intention to co-operate in the relief work. This brings the total of the adult population, and thus was not so delicate as was required for the sustenance of infants.

Most of the old Belgian forts have been entirely remodelled; some have been raised, some lowered, and some have been completely rebuilt. A considerable part of the hard labor involved in completing the trenches is done with a military traction trench-digger, which cuts a furrow about three feet wide and three feet deep.

The town is dull and quiet. All hopes of a great offensive are at a standstill. There are several false batteries cleverly constructed to attract airplane or cavalry attack.

Berlin Hopes for an Early

(BY WIRELESS AND A. P.)
BERLIN, Nov. 30.—The situation at the end of the past week shows, in the opinion of military critics, that the time is ripe for the resumption of active operations against the Russians, which temporarily were hindered by the advance of Russian reinforcements in Northern Poland. The German successes, the critics contend, definitely have removed the danger of any invasion of the German provinces. Further south the Austrians are co-operating to good effect and the Austrian advance into Serbia affords a reasonable ground for believing that the campaign there soon will be brought to a successful conclusion and thus release troops for action elsewhere.

An observer who has just returned from Serbia expresses the opinion that the Serbians are "at the end of their tether."

Von Frankenberg made the alleged statements.
"There is, indeed, no Gen. Von Frankenberg at Antwerp, but it seems that a Capt. Von Frankenberg, a staff officer, not authorized to speak, made the statement."

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Nov. 30.—Irish and German organizations in San Francisco and bay cities have united to raise funds which will be devoted to equipping and transporting to Germany, if necessary, Irish National Volunteers in Ireland. The Irish National Volunteers have gone on record as being opposed to any alliance with Great Britain in the present European war and stand ready to enlist under the Kaiser's banner.

The campaign to raise money here is part of a world-wide movement among supporters of the Irish National Volunteers to register a sympathy for Germany. A joint German-Irish entertainment and ball will be held on the night of December 10 and the proceeds will be turned into the fund that will be sent to Ireland.

Hundreds of prominent Irishmen and Germans in San Francisco are interested in the movement. According to D. Harney, secretary of the local volunteers, England is considerably worried by the pro-German sentiment in Ireland.

"Several thousand Irish Volunteers held a convention in Dublin on October 26," said Harney today, "and named John Redmond and three other Irishmen as delegates to the Nationalist movement in Ireland. (BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—A summary of the work being done in the United States by the Central Committee of the Belgian relief fund was issued tonight by E. Havenith, the Belgian Minister. The statement said:

"The Belgian Minister expressed the greatest satisfaction at the results accomplished by the Central Committee of the Belgian relief fund. It has formed committees in thirty-three States; of these, twenty-two are State-wide committees. Thirteen Governors have been given honorary commissions for the relief of the starving Belgians."

"This is now an exclusively American movement. Mr. Lindon W. Bates is the vice-chairman of the American branch of the committee established in London under the chairmanship of Mr. Herbert Hoover; Mr. McCarter is also a member of the committee of the Belgian relief fund in New York."

For the plan originated by the Central Committee of the Belgian relief fund is that each State should buy its own foodstuffs and contribute them to the fund. The plan is that the foodstuffs can be sold in the State, contributions should be sent to the Central Committee in Washington, which would then be turned over to the Interstate Commerce Commission.

TO INVESTIGATE
FREIGHT RATES.

New Tariffs of the Western Carriers Suspended.

Loading of Cars in Transit
One of the Issues.

Passenger Fare Increases are Permitted to Stand.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Investigation of the railway freight rate situation in western and middle western territory was ordered today, when the Interstate Commerce Commission suspended new tariffs filed by western carriers, to become effective tomorrow.

Under the commission's ruling the new schedules and the various regulations and charges for special services included in the tariffs cannot become effective before March 31, 1915, having been proposed "pending hearing and decision thereon."

In a general way the same tariffing by the carriers in the so-called 5 per cent freight advance rate case, now before the commission on rehearing because of emergency said to have arisen from the European war.

Among the special service charges proposed in the suspended tariffs was the withdrawal of regular passenger cars to be stopped in transit without charge for loading or partial unloading.

An additional charge of $5 per car was fixed for this service.

As to grain and grain products, the suspended tariffs provided general increases of 1 cent per 100 pounds on carload shipments from St. Paul and other northern points, from Chicago and St. Louis to points on the Atlantic and Gulf seaboard and between the Atlantic and Gulf seaboard and association territory points.

Several tariffs filed by the carriers would become effective until later in the month and it is possible suspension orders will be issued against these also.

The commission did not suspend one-way passenger fare increases in central freight association territory, freight and passenger rates, nor did it suspend one-way passenger fares later in the month.

Guthrie representing the Interstate Commerce Commission. Mr. Guthrie presented the case against the railroad to obtain an accurate analysis of all the financial transactions in which the railroad has been involved.

The testimony will then be turned over to the Interstate Commerce Commission.

THROWS BOMB IN WILSON CASE.

BANKRUPT BROKER SAYS HE WAS APPROACHED BY PART-NER OF JUDGE'S BROTHER.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)
SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 30.—A sensation exploded today in the courtroom of Police Judge Crist, when counsel for J. C. Wilson and B. A. Wilbrant, bankrupt brokers charged with embezzlement, applied for a change of venue on the strength of an affidavit by Wilson that he had been approached by Horton Phillips, member of a law firm in which Judge Crist's brother is a partner, with an offer to have the case dismissed if the firm of Van Schroeder & Caldwell were retained for the defense.

Judge Crist had been forewarned of the affidavits and said from the bench he understood they were to be offered. "And I understand that," he remarked, "if you have been calling me a —" the judge named an obscene epithet.

"Not in this connection. Your Honor," replied Attorney Thomas O'Connor, suavely.

"I think I can put you in jail for this," vociferated the court.

Wilson's affidavit recited that he had been approached privately in his home by Horton Phillips, who offered him a change of venue, which Judge Crist denied, at the same time announcing his intention to proceed for contempt of court against O'Connor.

Judge Wiley F. Crist was elected to replace Judge Charles L. Weller, the first magistrate recalled in California.

As agent for the company in Seattle, Roberts has played an important part in the building up of trade in the Puget Sound, British Columbia district, and the Alaska coast.

He was appointed here when the company had one sailing a month on the Seattle-New York service, via the Straits of Magellan. It is a sailing every five days, via the Panama Canal, and handles an immense volume of freight, both westbound and eastbound.

In Los Angeles he will succeed R. D. Lapham, who is transferred to San Francisco to succeed Mr. J. C. Magill, assistant traffic manager. Roberts will have his home in Los Angeles the latter part of December.

REAR-ADMIRAL BLUE EXPLAINS THE UNIQUE SITUATION.

British Report Only Small Attacks on Outpost.

Proplanes Especially Active in Dropping Bombs.

English Soldier Said to be Best Fed in the Field.

ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P. LONDON, Nov. 30.—Details of the situation of the British troops at the front from November 22 to November 29 are given in a report issued today from a source attached to the headquarters. The report is as follows:

The enemy desisted from his attack in force, the fighting has been reduced to a competition in sniping and small attacks on the outposts all along the line, where positions are held with rifles, hand grenades, machine guns and mines.

Proplanes have been especially active in the last two days, having dropped 120 bombs.

Account refers to several incidents in which German attacks were repulsed, particularly on November 28 and 29, when the Germans did considerable execution at close quarters, even penetrating some of the trenches, where they wielded their curved swords with effect.

Report again refers to the discipline of the German soldiers. It says the British soldiers could hear the German soldiers' "Vorwärt" coming from the woods. It was immediately followed by a rush of Germans. Once, and three times was done. Each time the Germans were moved down the order was given again. This was, however, there were loud cries of "Voll, voll, voll" and no more was made.

Repulse of the famous Prussian assault was mentioned. The enemy had broken our front line the situation most serious," the report continues. There were only two field guns of the Royal Engineers in this part of the field. On the front of the German attack through open spaces in the heavy batteries and field guns, both before and after the attack.

German soldiers came on almost by surprise. Some bodies were only seventy yards from the front line.

That all might be lost during line of some kind could be seen, battery officers manning a line of guns, regiments and details of various units. These men stood firm on a steady rifle fire. They were assailed at the most critical moment enabling other troops up to repel it more completely.

Incidents taken up in the report the movement by British cavalry, thus adding to the cavalry roles which the cavalry had during the war, blowing houses containing German stores, heating of trenches with stoves, and the transport work in supplying food.

Part of our success," says the report, "is due to the quantity and excellent food."

Probably not saying too much that no other soldiers in the front had so well."

MEN NEEDED FOR OUR NAVY.

Rear-Admiral Blue Explains the Unique Situation.

Three Millions Wanted for a Dry Dock at Norfolk.

Estimates Presented in Excess of the Last Demand.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—The need of 240 additional officers and about 4,000 men to fully complement the navy's fleet of ships and submarines was explained today to the House Naval Affairs Committee by Rear-Admiral Blue, chief of the navigation bureau of the Navy Department. Admiral Blue was telling of the needs of the navy in connection with the naval appropriation bill now being shaped by the committee.

Referring to the fact that the department was still purchasing some of its hydrographic charts from the British government, the admiral said the United States was paying more and more such charts each year, and that ultimately hydrographic charting by the United States government would be as complete as that of any other nation.

Rear-Admiral Stanford, chief of the bureau of yards and docks, recommended the $3,000,000 estimate for a new drydock at Norfolk, Va. He also urged the necessity of appropriations for additional fuel oil storage tanks at Melville, R. I., Norfolk, Va., San Diego, Cal., Puget Sound, Wash., Mare Island, Cal., Guantanamo, Cuba, and Pearl Harbor, Hawaii. All the ships of the navy now under construction are to use fuel oil, and it is estimated that this year 30,000,000 gallons will be used.

The estimate of the navy exceeds last year's total of $148,000,000 by about $1,000,000.

"JIM CROW" LAW UNCONSTITUTIONAL.

SUPREME COURT SO FINDS, BUT ISSUES NO DECREE ON THE SUBJECT.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—A majority of the Supreme Court today joined in an opinion that the Oklahoma "Jim Crow" law providing for separate railroad cars for sleeping, dining and chair car accommodations only to the white race was unconstitutional, but they did not issue a decree because of imperfection in the petition on which the case reached the court. The case was one in which five negroes, claiming that the entire law was unconstitutional, sought an injunction to restrain five railroads in Oklahoma from enforcing it. The Oklahoma Federal courts dismissed the petition, holding the law constitutional. The majority of the court affirmed the dismissal, because the negroes had not shown they had applied to the railroads for accommodations under the law or that the railroads had refused certain accommodations.

LAND ENTRYMEN WIN. Supreme Court Decides Their Content Is Sufficient for the Construction of Railroad.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—The decision of the Ninth United States Court of Appeals that railroads cannot be constructed across reclamation projects, even with the authorization of the Secretary of the Interior, was reversed today by the Supreme Court. In the suit of the government to enjoin the Minidoka and Southwestern Railroad Company from extending its line across the South Side Minidoka project in Idaho.

KEEP YOUR OWN SONGS. American Naval Apprentices Forbidden by Daniels to Trawl "It's a Long Way to Tipperary."

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Secretary Daniels today expressed approval of the action of Lieutenant-Commander F. T. Evans, commanding the naval training station at Newport, R. I., in forbidding the singing of "It's a Long Way to Tipperary" by naval apprentices. Secretary Daniels said, as "Tipperary" was the marching song of the British forces, that it ought not to be sung or played by American sailors, any more than should the "Marseillaise" or "Die Wacht am Rhein."

CAPE HILL EXPLAINED, AND DANIELS IS SATISFIED.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Secretary Daniels accepted an adequate explanation of Capt. Walter N. Hill's comment on his knowledge of the Mexican situation published recently in a private letter to his family, which reached a newspaper without his knowledge. The Secretary wrote to Capt. Hill, however, admonishing him to be particularly careful in commenting on international questions.

PARCEL POST SERVICE RESUMED TO GERMANY.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Resumption of the parcel post service between the United States and Germany and Austria-Hungary was announced by Postmaster-General Burleson tonight. The lifting at the time of the prohibition against acceptance of parcels for these countries, caused by the lack of means of transportation resulting from the war, will make possible the sending of thousands of Christmas remembrances to Europe, which would otherwise have been impossible. An order to all postmasters was issued by the Postmaster-General directing them, until further notice, to accept for mailing to the countries named all parcels which conform to the prescribed conditions of the international parcel post service. Parcel post packages are now mailable to all countries with which the United States has parcel post conventions except Belgium, Turkey and the northern and northeastern parts of France, where military operations prevent a resumption of the service.

FIVE AND A HALF PERCENT REDISCOUNT RATE.

IT IS THE ONE THAT PROBABLY WILL HOLD ALL OVER THE COUNTRY.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—The Federal Reserve Board spent several hours today discussing changes in the discount rate, which several of the Federal reserve banks desire to make. No definite announcement was made, but it was virtually decided that the rate for the entire country should be uniform, at 5 1/2 per cent. for thirty-day maturities and 6 per cent. for longer maturities. This would put the other reserve banks on the same footing as those in Boston, New York and Philadelphia. No change in their rates was suggested by these cities. The board took no final action tonight, deciding to await the receipt of further information from the banks in Chicago, Minneapolis and St. Louis.

The banks in Richmond, Atlanta and Dallas were anxious to secure approval of a rate of 5 per cent. for thirty-day and 5 1/2 per cent. for longer maturities. Their suggestion probably will not be approved, since the board does not desire to give them the same footing as those in the larger financial centers.

NEW INVOICE RULES ANNOY THE FRENCH.

PROTEST IN WASHINGTON THEY HAVE NOT GOT THE MEN TO DO THE WORK.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Ambassador Jusserand of France today lodged an informal protest with the Treasury Department against the new regulations for invoices and declarations of exporters' shipping goods to the United States.

The regulations were promulgated last summer, but not put into effect until recently. They were designed to prevent customs undervaluations and require greater particularity in the specifications of goods to be exported.

Ambassador Jusserand told treasury officials that the war had taken most of his men in the French service familiar with this sort of work into the field and that their duties now were being performed largely by women or boys without experience. Assistant Secretary Peters explained that it was not intended to embarrass French exporters, but to stop fraud, and that its workings probably would not prove so difficult as is now expected. He promised to do everything possible to prevent the change from the old to new system from imposing any hardships.

DIPLOMATIC APPOINTMENTS.

Special Agents Named to Assist the American Ambassadors at Constantinople and Paris.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—George T. Wetzel, former Minister to Nicaragua, has been appointed a special agent of the State Department to assist Ambassador Morgenthau in Constantinople. He will leave for Turkey in a few days. Henry Morgenthau Jr., son of the Ambassador, conferred with Acting Secretary Lansing today preparatory to leaving for Constantinople to assist in the Embassy there. John G. Coolidge of Boston has been designated as a special agent of the State Department in France and will leave shortly to join the staff of Ambassador Sharp in Paris.

TO REMOVE WOOL EMBARGO.

Prospects for Resumption of Shipments from Australia Said to be Very Bright.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Prospects for modification in the near future of the Australian embargo on wool exports so as to permit shipments to the United States were said today to be very bright. Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the British Ambassador, conferred with Acting Secretary Lansing at the State Department, and is understood to have discussed probable action by the British government with reference to the existing embargoes on the exportation of wool, rubber and plumbago from British possessions.

INCREASED PASSENGER FARES.

Beginning Today It Will Cost More to Ride on Trains in the Central Association.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Increased passenger fares in central passenger association territory becoming effective tomorrow, and increases in mileage books becoming effective on December 1, will not be suspended by the Interstate Commerce Commission, official announcement was made today.

Increases in coal, live stock, meats, hay and grain were suspended, as were elevator allowances at Kansas City and other terminal points. Increases on fresh meats from New York, St. Louis and East St. Louis also were suspended.

SIXTY-THIRD CONGRESS. FINAL SESSION ONE WEEK AWAY.

Washington Presents a Busy Scene Just Now.

Senators and Representatives Flock to Capital.

Committees Rushing Work on Big Supply Bills.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—With the opening of the final session of the Sixty-third Congress but a week away, members of both houses began flocking to Washington today from the campaign and holiday recess.

On the House side the Committee on Appropriations and Naval Affairs Committee spent a busy day getting a flying start on the supply measures for the session. Evidences of activity were apparent everywhere throughout the capital and Democratic members generally sounded as the keynote of the session the hope that all necessary business would be concluded by March 4, so that an extra session to usher in the newly-elected Sixty-fourth Congress before December would be unnecessary.

Appropriations for the Bureau of Navigation were considered by the Naval Affairs Committee today, members of the committee expressing the opinion that it would be some time before the fight over increasing the naval program would be reached.

Estimates from the departments are eagerly awaited by other appropriating committees, everybody being anxious to get the supply bills before Congress as speedily as possible.

As to a definite legislative program there has been no decision as yet, but it is certain that several conservation measures, including the general water power and land leasing bills, are to be pressed. Hearings on these bills before the Senate Public Lands Committee already have been set for December 9 and 16, respectively. Senator Myers, chairman of the committee, said he expected the hearings would be concluded within two weeks and that the bills, with amendment, would be reported to the Senate early in January.

Senator Kern, the majority leader, said he hoped to talk with President Wilson during the week concerning the legislative program. He expected considerable light on the subject would be gleaned from the President's annual message to be delivered in joint session next Tuesday.

A subcommittee of the House Appropriations Committee concluded hearing on the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill, the first of the big supply measures. Director of the Census Harris, Postmaster-General Burleson and Secretary of Labor Wilson discussed estimates for appropriations to be carried in the bill. The hearings on the measure have developed a general policy among Cabinet officers against asking for increased salaries to government employees this year.

"It is in our general understanding," said Secretary Wilson, as he left the committee, "that no increase in salaries are to be asked for in any branch of the government service under present conditions."

The legislative bill will be ready to go into the House from the committee as soon as Congress meets. The District of Columbia bill, which has already been framed, will first be presented.

IS PRESIDENT, YET HE ISN'T. JIMINES Duly Elected in San Domingo Prevented from Taking Oath by Opposition in Congress.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Although Juan E. Jimines has been elected President of the Dominican republic by a majority of both the popular and electoral vote, he is unable to take the oath of office before Congress.

This information reaching the State Department today caused officials to feel somewhat doubtful over the situation in the island republic. The commission which was sent by this government to help arrange for the election reported to Secretary Bryan last week that it had been the most successful ever held in the republic.

A regiment of American marines aboard the transport Hancock was held at Port au Prince during the Haitian revolution and until the election was held. The Hancock is now in Dominican waters.

MINE AFLOAT OFF NEW YORK

IS REPORTED DRIFTING DIRECTLY IN PATH OF OCEAN STEAMERS.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—A mine with five contact points extending from it in about six miles west of Fire Island Light, according to Capt. Davies of the steamship Etowah, is today from London. Capt. Davies said he passed the mine this morning while his ship was bound in.

The spot where the mine is said to be adrift lies in the pathway traveled by all trans-Atlantic vessels leaving and entering New York harbor. How the mine happened to be there; by what agencies it was set there; whether its presence was accidental or by design, were problems.

The possibility that it had been set there by the British, that it might have eventually led to judgment against the side of a warship caused some speculation. The only warships seen recently in New York harbor having been the British flag. For some time British warships have patrolled the doorway to the harbor, passing and repassing the spot where Capt. Davies said the mine was adrift.

A recent report that a mine had been lost by or was in the possession of the Brooklyn navy yard was denied this afternoon at the commandant's office there.

The mine was of a different design than that adopted by the United States army, hence the theory that it might have been a dummy which was set there that it might be a dummy which was set there was discarded.

Capt. McKinnon of the steamer said the structure, which appeared to be of steel frames, was a new one.

ONE VOLUME OF STATISTICS.

Engineers' Spokesman Presents it to Arbitrators.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—When the arbitration of questions at issue between ninety-eight western railroads and 55,000 of their engineers began here today before a board appointed under the Newlands Act, the representatives of the men set out to prove that every one of their sixteen demands, with two exceptions of a comparatively minor nature, are in actual existence on some roads, although no one road has granted all of them.

Case of the Western Railway Men Before the Board.

Hearing of Testimony may Last Three Months.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—When the arbitration of questions at issue between ninety-eight western railroads and 55,000 of their engineers began here today before a board appointed under the Newlands Act, the representatives of the men set out to prove that every one of their sixteen demands, with two exceptions of a comparatively minor nature, are in actual existence on some roads, although no one road has granted all of them.

Of the six arbitrators, two were appointed by the roads, two by the men, and two—Judge Peter C. Pritchard and Charles Nagel—by the government. Judge Pritchard was the chairman. Then he and his fellow members settled into their chairs and for five hours listened to a solid volume of statistics elicited by Warren S. Stone, grand chief engineer of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, acting as counsel for the men, from his first witness, M. W. Cadie, an assistant grand chief engineer of the organization.

Represented by A. W. Trenholm, chairman of the Conference Committee of Managers appointed by the Western Association of General Managers, several of his colleagues on the committee, and Stone outlined his case briefly and then introduced "Exhibit 1," which proved to be a paper-bound volume of 325 pages listing upward of half a million words.

"This exhibit," he explained, "contains the record of agreements between the engineers and the railroads in this hearing." By its bulk it was said to be an ample explanation of the expectation that the hearing will last three months.

Attorney James L. McLean, retained by the railroads, said that he would reserve his opening statement until the presentation of evidence for the men, and then he would make his line of defense would be required.

"We will contend, of course, that the present rate of pay is fair, fair and adequate. We have no quarrel with Mr. Stone as to the high class of men required to run locomotives and the arduous nature of their duties."

He said wages were adjusted in 1910 by mediation and arbitration and that while in his view the present arbitration should have to do only with changes in the last four years, Mr. Stone's opening remarks concluded the increased responsibilities which have developed in the last twenty-five years and most of which the railroads considered in 1910.

A summary of the demands read and witnesses' replies followed: (1) One hundred miles or less, five hours or less, constitute a day's work in all classes of passenger service. All mileage in excess of 100 miles shall be paid for pro rata. Ten miles run will be paid for a day's work performed, or vice versa. Witness said that this rule is quite general throughout the country and that few railroads even had nine and eight-hour work days.

(2) Overtime in passenger service shall be paid at the rate of 150 per cent. of the regular rate for the first hour and 200 per cent. for the second hour and thereafter.

VILLA TROOPS AT ENSENADA.

Force Landed from Ship Trained by Cruiser.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 29.—That 350 Villa soldiers were landed at Ensenada this morning from the Mexican troopship Manuel Herreras was the word brought to San Diego this afternoon by the United States cruiser Chattanooga, which followed the steamer into the Lower California port to investigate the threats made against the commander of an American excursion vessel, the Coronado Islands yesterday.

Threat to Fire on American Launch is Reported.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)

According to the story told by officers on the Chattanooga, the cruiser's wireless operator intercepted a radio message last night from the Point Loma station here to Admiral Howard on the U. S. S. San Diego. This message told of the peculiar behavior of the Mexican troopship Manuel Herreras, which had threatened to fire on the ocean-going launch Golden West off the Coronado Islands Sunday.

At the time this message was picked up, the Chattanooga was only a few miles south of Ensenada, and Commander Thomas J. Senn decided to take the lower California capital to investigate the affair. On arriving at Ensenada, the commander found that the Manuel Herreras already in port and discharging troops. The steamer had on board two small excursion launches which had been kept at the Coronado Islands by American firms.

On inquiry, the American commander was told that the Manuel Herreras had gone north for the purpose of landing troops on the shores of Lower California, between Ensenada and the Juanes, and that the small excursion launches had been confiscated in order to facilitate the landing of the soldiers. The plan was held up at other than home terminal. Witness said many railroads make adequate provision of pay for such delay at terminals by paying a bonus to the crew in the form of a bonus.

The Mexican did not offer an explanation of the expectation that the hearing will last three months. Attorney James L. McLean, retained by the railroads, said that he would reserve his opening statement until the presentation of evidence for the men, and then he would make his line of defense would be required.

"We will contend, of course, that the present rate of pay is fair, fair and adequate. We have no quarrel with Mr. Stone as to the high class of men required to run locomotives and the arduous nature of their duties."

He said wages were adjusted in 1910 by mediation and arbitration and that while in his view the present arbitration should have to do only with changes in the last four years, Mr. Stone's opening remarks concluded the increased responsibilities which have developed in the last twenty-five years and most of which the railroads considered in 1910.

A summary of the demands read and witnesses' replies followed: (1) One hundred miles or less, five hours or less, constitute a day's work in all classes of passenger service. All mileage in excess of 100 miles shall be paid for pro rata. Ten miles run will be paid for a day's work performed, or vice versa. Witness said that this rule is quite general throughout the country and that few railroads even had nine and eight-hour work days.

(2) Overtime in passenger service shall be paid at the rate of 150 per cent. of the regular rate for the first hour and 200 per cent. for the second hour and thereafter.

YELLOW BOOK OF THE FRENCH.

It Bears on the Cause of the Great War in Europe.

Hundred and Sixty Official
Documents in Record.

Recital of the Negotiations
Following Vienna Note.

PARIS, Nov. 30.—The French Minister of Foreign Affairs today made public a yellow book bearing on the causes of the present war. This volume is much more complete than the publications of this nature given out up to the present time by other governments.

The French report has 216 pages and comprises no fewer than 160 documents. It is devoted primarily to a recital of the negotiations which followed the delivery of the Austrian note to Serbia (July 23, 1914), and which preceded the declaration of war by Germany on Russia (August 1, 1914), and on France (August 3, 1914). It is brought to a close by the reproduction of the declaration of the Triple Entente powers, that Great Britain, Russia and France would not conclude peace separately.

The documents in this book are divided into chapters in order to distinguish the preliminaries from the principal phases of the European crisis.

The first chapter is entitled "Preface" (1913), and is devoted to the deeper causes of the present conflict.

An extract of the yellow book given out officially in Paris, reads as follows:

"It was first in the spring of 1913 that we noted a new and expansive military effort which alone can explain the desire to impose the German superiority and hegemony upon the powers of the Triple Entente. When France, responded to this menace by the drafting of the law of three-year service, the German measure of defense was denounced in official circles in Berlin as a 'provocation which should not be tolerated.'

"In April of 1913 a secret and official German report defined the objective and the means of the national policy as follows:

"Convince the people of the necessity of an offensive war against France; prepare uprisings in Russia and in North Africa; provide for, in case of hostilities, the immediate absorption of Belgium and Holland."

"These are the ideas extolled in this report such is the programme that shortly after we saw the Germans endeavor to put into operation."

"We declare that Emperor William, who up to that time had posed as a champion of peace, admitted in the course of a conversation with the King of Belgium that he had finally come to share the ideas of the military advisers. He had placed himself among the partisans of a war which he thought would not be delayed and the over-riding success of which seemed to him, certain. Public opinion, in its turn, permitted itself to be won over by the passions of the military party and came to consider the affair of Austria as a defeat for Germany."

"These belittled dispositions constituted a permanent danger for the peace of Europe."

DIPLOMACY.

From a perusal of the six other chapters of the yellow book, which are devoted to the diplomatic negotiations carried on in the month of July, there is to be deduced and supported by evidence, the following impressions:

"That the combination between Austria and Germany had decided upon a war and that four successive occasions this combination endeavored to precipitate war by violent proceedings, the purpose of which was to prevent or to insure the failure of all efforts at conciliation. The first of these proceedings was the Austrian ultimatum to Serbia (July 24), which was the origin of this conflict."

"In spite of the fact that the Belgian government offered for the prosecution of the assassins of the Austrian Archduke every facility compatible with the dignity of the capital of Vienna summoned the government at Belgrade not only to disavow all complicity with the crime of Sarajevo, but furthermore to permit foreign representatives to seek the authors of this crime on Serbian territory."

"Vienna gave Serbia only two days to accept integrally these draconian conditions. Of the fact that M. Jagow, German Minister of Foreign Affairs, claimed to be in ignorance of the contents of this note (which was nevertheless known to the president of the Reichstag Council), Germany immediately and without restriction lifted herself with her ally. The German Ambassador came to the Quai d'Orsay (the French Foreign Office in Paris) and endeavored to carry through a proposal which he represented as being peaceful, but which was in reality threatening. He declared that the conflict should remain localized, and that any intervention on the part of a third power would result in incalculable consequences."

"Understand that letting it be understood that Austria should have every liberty to crush Serbia and that Germany would have recourse to arms to prevent Russia from succoring Serbia."

"Confronted with this situation, the Triple Entente powers forming the Triple Entente were bound to examine the conflict with greater care and if possible to render it less acute."

"The powers, therefore, asked that Vienna extend the period of delay allowed Serbia for her answer. Then Austria became fearful that she would be left without a pretext of war, and she endeavored to ward off this danger by another expedient. She declared that she would not accept an extension and declared insufficient the Serbian answer, which was given to her in good faith and which admitted her to the German Ambassador."

"Austria thereupon ordered her Minister at Belgrade to leave the Serbian capital (July 24), and diplomatic relations with Serbia were severed."

"With this development the situation became considerably aggravated. The powers of the Triple Entente, however, still endeavored to bring about a settlement. In the meantime M. von Schoen, the German Ambassador in Paris, came to the Quai d'Orsay and demanded that France exert her influence on Russia in a peaceful manner, but he refused to exert similar peaceful influence at Vienna."

"England proposed to avoid a crisis by submitting the Austro-Serbian difficulty to the official mediation of the four powers which were not directly interested therein. France and Russia accepted this proposal to internationalize the question, but Germany refused under the pretext that she could not thus humiliate her ally, and she proposed, in the place of this common action, the opening of direct conversations between Vienna and St. Petersburg, saying that the latter was ready to consent to this arrangement."

"The conflict seemed, consequently, at the end of the month of July, to be settling down to a peaceful solution, when for the third time Austria, by a fresh provocation, killed the hopes authorized by all that had been done, up to the present, in the direction of conciliation. She declared war on Serbia (July 28) and began at the same time a partial mobilization against Russia on her frontiers (July 28)."

"The chances for peace now seemed greatly reduced, particularly as the Austrian army began the bombardment of Belgrade, the occupation of which seemed to be nothing more than a question of hours. The powers of the Triple Entente did not, however, give up all hope of accomplishing something in these last remaining minutes. On one side Sir Edward Grey, British Foreign Secretary, started a new project for four-sided mediation, a project in which Russia joined at the demand of France. M. von Jagow, to whom this project was communicated, was not at all favorable to it, while he adhered to his principle, it was necessary to find a formula that would be acceptable to Austria. He was then invited to formulate himself a proposal of settlement, but he again avoided the issue by saying that he would consult the Vienna Cabinet, and on the other side, the Russian Foreign Secretary, who provided that all the powers should call a halt to their military preparations, and that the peace of Europe by offering to maintain an attitude of expectation if Austria would engage not to undertake any measures directed against the sovereignty of Serbia, even after having occupied Belgrade."

"It was then that the Cabinet of Vienna, perhaps fearful of the consequences of the Russian ultimatum, and feeling the necessity of taking a step backward declared for the first time that it was ready to discuss with Europe the fundamental principle of its difference with Serbia. At the very moment that this work in the Triple Entente was proceeding, the German government, in a last hope of peace, issued a proclamation in which it promised to endow the results acquired with so much labor, and to force the crisis to a violent solution."

"At the beginning of the conflict this power, Germany, had commenced military preparations, and she continued them with feverish haste. At the very moment when her representatives in foreign countries were protesting her pacific intentions, the German government addressed to the Russian government an ultimatum, giving Russia twelve hours in which to accept the German ultimatum as well as on her German frontiers. The alternative was that Germany would mobilize. This was at a time when the German government had given evidence of its conciliatory attitude, and at a time when Austria was showing herself disposed to discuss with Europe the question of her note to Serbia."

"There could be no doubt as to the answer to such an ultimatum. From that moment the cause of peace was definitely lost, the reason being that the German ultimatum was not only a violation of the obligations of alliances had to be observed, and the great power was drawn into the fatal conflict."

"Events which then took place are fresh in the memory of everyone. On the 1st of July there were acts of hostility clearly defined on our frontier: the second of August saw the violation of the neutrality of Luxembourg and the entrance by German troops upon three points of our territory, while our troops were holding themselves at a distance of ten kilometers (six miles) from the frontier. The same day Belgium was summoned to permit Germany's military operations against France. Finally, on the 3rd of August, the declaration of war was brought by M. von Schoen to the Quai d'Orsay, which act preceded by a short time only the violation of the neutrality of Belgium."

"In the light of the documents contained in this yellow book, the roles played by the different powers in this European crisis show up with striking clearness. It is scarcely necessary again to emphasize the responsibility of Austria, primal cause of the conflict. The responsibilities on Germany are even more crushing. In spite of the fact that in the beginning she stood for the second plan. The reason for this is that Germany systematically avoided every opportunity to adopt measures of conciliation. She forced Austria to an interventionist attitude and she made the war inevitable by an ultimatum (to Russia) issued at a moment when the basis of a direct agreement between Austria and Russia had been found and accepted by these two powers."

"From the beginning Germany declared that she was in ignorance of the contents of the Austrian note (to Serbia) but at the same time she voted her resolve to approve it and to defend it in all her pretensions."

"When the Russian government showed that public opinion and the historic traditions of Russia did not permit it to turn a deaf ear to the fate of Serbia, Germany endeavored to force France, by intimidation, to associate herself with the carrying of hostilities at St. Petersburg, but at the same time she refused to undertake hostilities at Vienna."

"When Sir Edward Grey proposed four-power mediation, the German government refused to consider his proposal. The first time under the pretext that she thought preferable the opening of direct negotiations between Vienna and St. Petersburg, and the second time she refused under the pretext that such a conference was not acceptable to Vienna, and that the Russian proposal was not in her interests."

"Germany perceived in spite of all her historic precedents that the conflict was threatening toward a settlement, and she endeavored to prevent it by the violation of the neutrality of Belgium and of Holland, and of the invasion of her own territory were necessary before she decided to draw the sword to defend her life."

City of Ypres Destroyed by Kaiser's
Troops in Armored Train—Whole Line of Enemy's Trenches Captured in Daring Dash by the Infantrymen.

PARIS, Nov. 30.—The following official statement was issued here tonight:

"A few details about what has occurred on the front from November 21 to November 27, inclusive: The general situation has not materially changed in that period. The enemy has worn himself out in partial attacks, without result. Our counter-attacks have inflicted on him heavy losses and have brought some gain to ourselves."

"From the sea to the Lys the attacks of the enemy have been intermittent. On the 22nd and 24th and the 25th the German artillery in general remained silent."

"The old and magnificent city of Ypres was condemned to death on the day when the German army was obliged to give up all hope of entering it. The batteries on both sides engaged in a duel of destruction, the enemy took to himself an armored train on the 22nd and 23rd under the guidance of a captive balloon."

"The firing was kept up continually in order to prevent the city from being captured, but our sappers worked under the shells and succeeded in reducing many of the inhabitants, the city records and a few pictures in the museum."

"On the 24th and 25th we succeeded, to the south of Dixmude, in gaining a foothold on the left bank of the Yser. In spite of the fire of the enemy's artillery, our troops held the ground without difficulty."

"Further to the south a French army corps advanced 200 meters all along its front and has held its ground. The shells of the German artillery sometimes burst properly. Our infantry, in comparison with the infantry of the enemy, are very spirited. They captured on the 25th, before Festovert, three machine guns, a light howitzer, 160 men and three officers."

"To sum up, our material and moral situation from the sea to the Lys is very good. From the Lys to the Oise the enemy has not shown greater activity than on the northern section. There was no attack by the infantry. The attacks by the artillery were very intermittent and were lacking in spirit. Our artillery during that week maintained its advantage."

"On the 22nd our heavy guns near La Bassée silenced completely the fire of the German batteries. On the 24th in the same region the result was the same. On the 25th we destroyed, after our aerials had given us the range, two machine guns."

"Our infantry has gained brilliant results. It is to be noted that every advance it makes is at once definitely established by intrenchments. At the same time it has been able to take possession of the village of Bousin."

What Leads to Tuberculosis?

In the opinion of many medical authorities, the development of tuberculosis (consumption) is hastened, if not actually precipitated, by a loss of time from the system. "Where there is a deficiency of the time factor, the time factor must be supplied," says Dr. J. W. Cady, of San Antonio, Texas, in the May, 1913, issue of "Medical Progress."

To supply these necessary salts has, in many instances, proved a difficult matter, since some of the forms they are not easily assimilable. Eckenman's Liver-Salts, however, calcium (lime) is so combined with other remedial agents as to be assimilated by the average person without digestive disturbance, and to this in part is due the success of this remedy in the treatment of tuberculosis and chronic throat and bronchial affections.

We make no boastful claims for Eckenman's Liver-Salts, but a careful record of results obtained during years of widespread use, and the numerous testimonials which will order or you can send direct to Eckenman Laboratories, Philadelphia, Pa., will amply substantiate our claims.

Live on the 21st, our infantry brought to a head an audacious operation which we made an advance on the 24th one of 500 meters near Berry-au-Bac; another the same day to the east of Rheims and in the forest of Bolan; and on the 25th still another near Soissons."

"In this region, as also in the vicinity of St. Mihiel, our heavy artillery has made nearly impossible the victualing of the enemy."

GETS FREE TRIP TO CALIFORNIA.

RIVERSIDE SHERIFF IN CHICAGO ARRESTS ALLEGED CROOK. COTTON SALES.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.] RIVERSIDE, Nov. 30.—Armed with the necessary requisition and with a warrant, Sheriff Wilson took into custody in Chicago today Charles H. Baker, wanted for passing a spurious check for $500 on a local bank. Baker had just finished a term in the Cook County House of Correction, only to find himself confronted with the Riverside officer and a free ticket for California.

That the quality of the Imperial Valley and Arizona cotton is the finest in the world, not excepting the long staple of Egypt, is the pronounced opinion of Englishmen who passed through this city today en route to Los Angeles after arranging for the shipment of a large consignment of cotton from Phoenix to New York, and thence to Manchester, England. The buyers are Frank Haby and C. E. Barlow of Manchester, and E. Martin Philippi of Newark, N. J. The visitors expressed the opinion that the war in Europe would last for a year and a half. The cost of living, they assert, has not materially advanced, while luxuries, on the other hand, have been reduced in price.

—and the Worst Is Yet to Come

Mr. Brauer was the only victim of the accident, though the two automobiles were practically demolished.

He was riding a motorcycle north on Main street, and was passing 155 automobile of O. W. Wood of No. 241 Parkside avenue. As the two machines reached Workman street, an automobile driven and owned by Charles Hora, No. 1881 North Lake Shore avenue, came out of Workman street. The running board of Mr. Hora's auto caught Mr. Brauer and carried him a few feet. Then the two automobiles collided, pinning Mr. Brauer between them. The automobiles turned turtle.

Mr. Brauer was taken from the wreckage and rushed to the Receiving Hospital. He sustained concussion of the brain, internal injuries of the chest, a compound fracture of the left collarbone, a fractured right leg and left arm, and a deep laceration on the shoulder. At the hospital of the Good Samaritan, where Brauer was taken last night, his recovery was considered doubtful at a late hour.

Mrs. Hora, who was with Mr. Hora in his auto, escaped with slight bruises, as did her husband, and Mr. Wood was uninjured.

GYPSIES ARRAIGNED.

Eight accused raiders can't put up bail—will be defended by Ernest Fugate.

The eight gypsies arrested in the Antelope Valley, charged with robbery, were arraigned before Justice Summerfield yesterday, and their preliminary examination set for this morning. They were held in $2000 bail each, which they failed to furnish. A number of persons robbed by the band will testify today. Attorney Ricciardi, who recently returned from Monte Carlo in answer to a criminal complaint, will defend the accused gypsies.

CUDAHY SUED FOR AN ALLEGED ATTACK.Charge Made by Society Woman Recalls
Sensational Troubles.Damages Asked of Scion of Multi-millionaire Packer Family of the Middle West—Declared to Have Broken Rib and Injured Spine of Pasadena Doctor's Wife by Physical Violence.

JACK CUDAHY, the fighting scion of the multi-millionaire family of Middle West packers, is the defendant in a suit for damages involving $20,000. It is brought by Dr. B. O. Coates, a fashionable society doctor of Pasadena, and his wife, Ellen Coates. They charge Mr. Cudahy with having violently thrown Mrs. Coates against a table in a fit of anger, breaking one of her ribs, wrenching another and dangerously injuring her spine.

The suit was filed in the Superior Court yesterday by attorneys Ticknor and Carter of Pasadena. They ask for $20,000 actual damages, and $5000 punitive damages. The Cudahys say it is a case of blackmail by a dope doctor.

Mr. Cudahy said last night: "The trouble between Dr. Coates and myself arose from the fact that I objected to the medicine he was giving me for nervousness. I finally accused him of administering dope to me and called him a dope doctor. He became infuriated and we quarreled. During the quarrel Mrs. Coates tried to intervene and was pushed aside. Mrs. Cudahy saw this and knew that there was no assault upon Mr. Coates. Dr. Coates presented a bill which I refused to pay, and I will fight his suit through to a finish. We hope to live in California and raise our children here, and I regret exceedingly that it is necessary to even take notice of such a man as Dr. Coates."

The manner in which the alleged injury came about involves much of a scandal in the Cudahy home, according to the attorneys, who are handling the case. The Cudahys live in a luxurious bungalow at the rear of the Hotel Maryland. It represents the most spacious and costly accommodations the hotel has to offer. One reason is that Mr. Cudahy is secretary of the hotel company, having invested nearly $75,000. It is reported in the construction of the rebuilt Maryland. For more than a year, Mr. Cudahy and his family have been residents of Pasadena, following a reconciliation.

TEACHER WINS
BY LOSING.Judge Hewitt Rules for Primary
Instructors in Salary Fight.

The Board of Education must either approve a warrant for $144, which Judge Hewitt yesterday decided is the salary due Miss Everon Mayne, a city school teacher, or appeal from his judgment. Miss Mayne is a 31 teacher, and the Board of Education drew her warrant for one month for $120.

County Superintendent Keppel refused to approve the warrant on the ground that Miss Mayne is entitled to receive $144, which is the salary paid teachers in the eighth grade. The court took his view of the matter, holding that a teacher in the primary school is entitled to receive as much money as the teachers in the grammar grades.

The suit came before the court as a test case, Miss Mayne applying for technical reasons, for a writ of mandate to compel Mr. Keppel to approve her warrant for $120. The writ was denied, Miss Mayne winning, although losing her suit, and Mr. Keppel's stand in the matter vindicated. Several hundred teachers in the city are interested in the outcome.

The Board of Education will probably decide today what to do about it. It may change in the school law, and certainly means an addition of $60,000 to the pay roll.

THIS MAY MAKE
PAPER POPULAR.LOST WEIGHT ON GOLD MUST BE PAID FOR UNDER NEW SYSTEM.

That gold coin will lose its popularity as a medium of exchange, especially where large amounts are ordinarily used, is one of the developments predicted on the inauguration of the new Federal Reserve banking system. Payments for capital stock or to reserve funds in the regional institutions, if made in gold, are required to be made by weight.

One local bank had to pay $58 extra for the shipment of $5000 gold to the Federal reserve bank on account of deficiency in the weight of the gold coins, and other institutions on the Coast have had similar experiences. Needless to say, when these banks made further shipments, which in some cases amounted to several times the original one, gold certificates were substituted, they being equally acceptable for payments of capital or reserve funds to the regional institution.

It is very probable that local banks would weigh gold coins brought them by customers if the amount should be several thousand dollars, on account of the depreciation owing to ordinary wear and tear. Bankers contend that paper will become the more popular medium of exchange on account of its greater elasticity under the new law. This is contrary to all precedent in the western States, where gold has always been very popular.

SLASH IN SALARIES.

Ordinance Proposed by Efficiency
Bureau Cuts Pay of District
Attorney and Deputies.

Salaries of deputies in the District Attorney's office are cut in a new salary ordinance submitted to the Board of Supervisors yesterday. The efficiency bureau. The District Attorney's salary was reduced from $6000 to $5000 several months ago by the Supervisors.

Under the proposed ordinance the chief deputy will receive $323 a month instead of $416, the present salary. Six deputies who now receive $250 a month are to be reduced to $225. Five deputies who now get $225 are to receive $200. There is a slash all along the line.

The ordinance recommends that the county motor police be transferred from the District Attorney's office to the Sheriff's office. The department at present consists of a superintendent and eight motor cops. The ordinance will probably be adopted, as at least three of the Supervisors are known to favor it.

CONFERENCE TO MAKE HISTORY.Secretary of Interior Calls
Flood Control Session.All Southwest in Colorado's Basin Interested.Five Delegates to Represent
Los Angeles There.

Issues of vast moment to the Imperial Valley and the Southwest, concerning not only emergency control of the flood waters of the Colorado River, but possibly the laying down for all time of policies of conservation for the waters of its great stream, will be considered in Washington the 9th inst., at a conference between Secretary of the Interior Lane and representatives of the Imperial Valley Irrigation district, Chamber of Commerce, Arizona and California River Regulation Commission, California Development Company and the Southern Pacific.

The call for this conference was issued yesterday by Mr. Lane, pursuant to a promise made by him on his recent visit here that he would call such a meeting on or about the time that Congress convenes in short session, to consider the subject of an emergency appropriation to safeguard the Imperial Valley against the danger of flooding the coming winter and spring.

TO LEAVE FRIDAY.
According to arrangements made yesterday, the Los Angeles delegates to this conference will leave Friday. They are: Chairman Booth of the advisory board of the Arizona and California River Regulation Commission; former Senator Flint and Isadore B. Dockweiler, representing the Chamber of Commerce, and Receiver Holabird of the California Development Company.

HOW CITY MANAGER PLAN

WORKS OUT IN PRACTICE.

Impartial Statements from Dayton, O., and Phoenix,

Ariz., Notable Examples of Municipalities Which

Have Tried the Device We will Vote on in Few Weeks—Former Satisfied, on the Whole—Latter?

W HAT success has attended the practical operation of the city manager plan where it has been put to a test?

In view of the fact that the voters of Los Angeles are about to express themselves on ten charter amendments, one of which provides for an entire new form of city government, and of the additional fact that there is nothing new in the general plan

suggested, The Times has asked the question.

Dayton, O., presents the most notable example of any city in the United States: where the city manager plan has been tried. Following the devastation of the city by flood there was a demand for a complete reorganization of the scheme of municipal government. Dayton finally adopted the services of Henry M. Walte, who has served eleven months as city manager. He is the most notable example of the city manager plan

in Los Angeles that is giving the plan a trial. In Dayton, as well as in Phoenix, the form is somewhat different than that proposed for Los Angeles. In Dayton there is a commissioner instead of a council, and the general organization is somewhat different along other essential lines.

The Times asked its Dayton representative to give an impartial analysis of the operation of the city manager

plan, and to state whether or not the results are known; to be unpar-

tially, however, has been centered about the employment of "out-of-town" men for positions, notably the position of city manager, Henry M.

Walte, at a salary of $15,000 a year, and the service director, Henry W.

Barlow, at a salary of $5000 a year.

Some time ago there were petitions in circulation here asking for a change in the form of government.

It had been expected that these petitions would be voted on at the election, but they "just naturally died" in the hands of the circulators. Just why, nobody ever knew, except perhaps, because it was found that the new government was more popular than believed.

The commission-manager government is founded on just one principle; namely, run your city like you run your business.

As an evidence of how the system has worked here, officials point out that the municipal records show that the establishment of a city plan agent who buys everything for the city's use has saved just $20,000 in the purchase of supplies in large quantities.

FOR THE NEEDY

Relieve Want.Shriners' Ball to be Big and Jolly Event.Million Club Sells Book
Pay for Tree.

While the city's people are just shedding tears and dollars for the needy of the war-ridden countries there are those who have not forgotten the needy at home.

Without abating the charity the Los Angeles, with the whole nation is showing Belgium and the unfortunate of the war, it is planned to make the holidays a brighter season for the widows, orphans and worthy poor who own this for their land. Many organizations are busy with the cheer plans.

Conspicuous among them is the Malakiah Temple. The Shriners, a usual, will give a Christmas ball, but it is believed the ball, Thursday evening at the Shrine Auditorium, 655 West 7th street, will not be usual, either in the entertainment offered or the sum it brings for charity. For seven years Al Malakiah Temple has done this work at the holidays. This year it is considered more important than ever before.

The big event will open at 8 p.m. with a concert by Al Malakiah band, followed by a drill by Al Malakiah Patrol. The Scottish Rite Club will furnish some numbers before the dancing begins. An added attraction will be Miss Norma Gould, assisted by Edwin Vols, in an exhibition of the modern ballroom dances.

The Flood Committee is headed by Mrs. J. Miller, and Mrs. J. Cole is chairman of the Reception Committee.

The proceeds are to go to the help of the needy poor, especially little children.

MILLION CLUB TREE.

The Women's Million Club has not forgotten the needy of the Christmas tree for the children of Los Angeles, to be enjoyed by everybody, and especially to provide happiness for the little people of the poor.

Realizing that money is not any more plentiful right now than is comfortable, and that the people are having more demands on their charity than is usually the case, the women of this club have decided to give something for all the poor.

It will raise as much money for their little "Christmas tree" as possible. This is an all-year project, and is a lovely story, beautifully told and artistically printed. On the Christmas picture, Charles Hugh Davis, the 7-month-old son of the author, who is the first vice president of the club.

Young Charles was the first child born to a member of the club and is known as the "Million Club baby." He is further three months old. From the fact that he has been chosen for the perfect baby of California, the club has decided to give him a book out of the book of the club. The book can be had at a book store, and the proceeds will go to the tree. Book out in New York, offered to bring this book to Los Angeles. It is a lovely story, and the book can be had at a book store, and the proceeds will go to the tree.

PARENTS AND TEACHERS.

Final arrangements are being made by the Parent-Teacher Association to take care of the Christmas tree for the families it has helped throughout the year.

Contributions from the heads of the individual associations are to be sent to room 517, Chamber of Commerce, not later than the 15th inst. The tree will be given every day from 10 to 4. Donations will be accepted from all persons interested in money. Apples, oranges and some money are the main needs.

While the association has kept in touch through the schools, with many cases of worthy need, individual investigation will be made of all it is known, before the distribution of the Christmas aid.

TWO STRUCK BY AUTO.

Van Nuy's Ranchman Suffers Concussion of Brain when Machine Hits His Motorcycle.

A. P. Hicks, 23 years of age, a Van Nuy's ranchman, was severely injured yesterday when a motorcycle he was riding was struck by an automobile driven by T. J. Spooner of No. 1614 Santa Monica boulevard, Santa Monica. Hicks was taken to the Receiving Hospital, suffering from a concussion of the head, chest and face.

A. G. Ford, 40 years of age, No. 408 West Sixty-sixth street, was struck by an automobile driven by F. C. Hockley, who escaped with minor bruises, of the leg.

S. P. ABANDONS STATION TO

WHEN AGENT J. Atkinson of the Southern Pacific pulled down the ticket window at the old Arcade station at 11 o'clock last night he performed the final rite that ended the doom of the venerable structure. Today or, rather, early this morning, the new station fronting on Central avenue will be placed in commission and the wreckers will begin the dismantling of the structure that for twenty-five years housed the Southern Pacific as a passenger gate to the City of Angels.

Though the Arcade passed into history the unheeded and unassuming "as the Imperial Valley Express Passenger Agent" was the way General Passenger Agent Latture put it—its demise was the occasion for a touching tribute. Just before the ticket window was closed and after the hurrying valley-bound train passed, "Pop" Jenkins, the veteran stationer, walked up and purchased a ticket to Shorb, the last to be passed through the window.

This ticket Mr. Jenkins will present to the new station.

DEMOCRATS PICK A REPUBLICAN.

The Committee Selects Venice New Postmaster.

Loud Protest will be Sent to Washington.

Police Commission to Act Upon Street Rumors.

The Democratic County Committee will have to battle over a new resolution at its next meeting. One of its members is framing a resolution of apology to Tim Spillacy, Tom Gibson, Dave Evans, J. A. Anderson and Irving Mamm, who were hurriedly and contemptuously from the Democratic party because they forsook the Democratic candidate for Governor in the recent campaign.

This bit of sophistry developed when the committee found that it had endorsed a Republican postmaster at Venice.

The "pie" committee of forty-eight was reduced to the old size of the historic "Pie Committee of Thirty-three," when Julius P. Barthel was endorsed. There will be a vacancy in the Venice postoffice in January, when the term of Mrs. Charles Lukens expires. Barthel was until January 10, 1914, a Republican.

Notwithstanding this, he was endorsed by a vote of 18 to 15, defeating Dr. J. M. White, a veteran Democrat of Venice, who seemed to have a cinch on the office. The new "pie" committee has decided that its endorsement ordinarily would decide such a trivial political appointment as that about to be open down by the seashore, but this time most of the members are agreed that they will have some considerable time inducing the Postmaster-General to recommend to President Wilson the appointment of a Republican.

B. M. Lee, proprietor of the Hotel St. Mark, was a third aspirant for the endorsement, but he received only a few votes.

Barthel appeared before the committee and admitted that he was a Republican until last January. In 1910 he registered and voted as a Republican; in 1912 he was a Republican candidate for the Assembly until he was eliminated at the primary. In 1913 he remained a Republican and in January of the following year he registered as a Democrat. At that time there was talk of a vacancy in the Venice postoffice.

Barthel told the committee that he had worked as a deputy county surveyor and had to register as a Republican to hold the job. "My wife was in a hospital, and I owed about $1500. I needed the job, otherwise I never would have registered as a Republican."

There were four women members of the committee present, and this plea swung their votes to him. On the sixth ballot he was declared recipient of the high honor.

Barthel until recently was city purchasing agent at Venice, but the Trustees since the job from under him and pulled that time he has divided his attention between campaigning for Senator-elect Phelan and attending meetings of the Democratic County Committee.

Henry Wolfe of Venice, who is a member of the county committee, led the fight for change. He was nearly every committee member from the city and Edgar Davis of Long Beach headed the delegation from that city for Dr. White. Mr. Davis was now preparing a painstaking resolution to present at the meeting when the man Joyce feels disposed to call a gathering of the Democratic clan.

If the committee's decision is in favor of a Republican is tenable, he suggests, it is only right that the committee should consider its harsh remarks of ex-patriates like Spillacy, Evans, Muma, Anderson and Gibson and declare it to be first order of business to be non-partisan.

Meanwhile Dr. White is organizing a protest to be sent to Washington. In fact, he says, it is a certain affidavit that he will have the backing of many of the leading Democrats of the county.

TO HEED RUMOR.

IN POLICE COMMISSION.

What Spring street has been whispering for several days will be confirmed with the prominence of a Police Commission investigation this morning when a resolution will be presented by Commissioner Morgan. This resolution, he says, will call for an investigation of the rumors that certain politicians and gamblers have been protected by the police and that City Prosecutor McKeay is alleged to have said that he has evidence to that effect.

The City Prosecutor denies that he ever said anything of the sort, but he admits that he has heard rumors. The story is that a shake-up in the police department followed an investigation by secret service men working out of the City Prosecutor's office in which it developed that gambling was protected in certain places downtown under the "pull" of politicians influential with the municipal government.

Police Commissioners Morgan and Owen, it is understood, will support the resolution at today's meeting, asking that City Prosecutor McKeay and others be summoned before the Police Commission to tell what they know of the current stories.

The Mayor said last night that he had heard the rumors, but rumors are the most frequent visitors at his office, and he is too busy to attach any significance to them. These rumors of protected graft have not involved the Mayor, but he says he will make the matter careful consideration when anything formal is brought before him. Commissioner Morgan said last night that there is a certain affidavit in existence which he is trying to obtain, and if he receives it before the meeting this morning he will bring the names of alleged gamblers and alleged politicians whose names have been lifted from lip to lip along Spring street.

GET DOCTORS' BILLS.

The jury in the action brought by James Evergreen against the Los Angeles Railway Company for damages alleged to have been received by being struck by a car at Central avenue and Sixteenth street returned a verdict of $3 in favor of the plaintiff in the Federal Court yesterday.

The twin action of Mary Evergreen, a sister, for injuries received in the same accident, resulted in a verdict for the plaintiff for $100. Both verdicts will last pay the doctors' bills of Evergreen and his sister.

CLEARED; ALSO SCORED.

Attorney Horton Not in Contempt for Alleged Intimidation But He Is Blamed for It.

In his prosecution for contempt of court, in that it is alleged he sought to intimidate a witness for the government, Attorney G. Ray Horton was exonerated yesterday by Judge Wellborn in the United States District Court.

The court found that the language imputed to Horton in his conversation with Basile, under all the circumstances, was not founded on a corrupt purpose to intimidate the witness; also that a quarrel outside the courtroom is not contempt in that it does not interfere with the orderly administration of justice.

But Judge Wellborn did find that Mr. Horton had been indiscreet in approaching the witness, Basile, after he had completed his testimony, even if he did think that the boy had sworn falsely on the stand. Judge Wellborn declared that it was very reprehensible for an attorney to discuss testimony already given by an adverse witness with that witness, and that it should not be done under any circumstances.

After a long review of the testimony furnished in the affidavits, both for and against the government, and the respondent, the court ordered that the charge against Horton be dismissed.

LOTS OF STAMPS; SOME OF FEET.

WAR-TAX LEVY MAKES TROUBLE FOR MR. CARTER.

Army of Folks Who do Business by Means of Papers Throng Federal Building in Quest of Stickers. Santa Fe Railway Gets Two Thousand Dollars Worth.

The crowd in evidence on the third floor of the Federal Building yesterday looked as if somebody was distributing free tickets to a lecture for men only.

The line began at the office of Collector Carter and wound around in the shape of an interlocking circle, running to the elevator; the would-be payers were packed into an extra room furnished by the Collector of Customs; they filed a third room in the rear of the office of Mr. Carter. They began to assemble early and it required all day to wipe out the flow meeting. It is no secret that on account of the exigencies of the situation the government will allow a little leeway for those who simply could not be waited on.

They were paying their dues to Uncle Sam for the privilege of doing business during the current year and laying in a supply of stamps called for by the new war tax law recently passed by Congress. Hundreds of thousands of stamps were disposed of—not counting the stamps of the feet of the dealers who are obtaining stamps with undying love for the "New Freedom." And the payments ranged all the way from $5 to $2000 paid by the Santa Fe Railway for 200,000 stamps. The section of the law requiring stamps goes into effect today.

The volume of business transacted by the Collector of Internal Revenue during the past few days has been enormous, but the actual receipts will not be so heavy as might be expected from the fact that large crowds have been in constant attendance at the desks of applicants spent but a few cents for stamps.

The office of the collector was closed last evening at the usual hour, in order to allow the clerks an opportunity to close up the books, and the First National Bank, the designated depository of the funds, remained open until midnight to give the clerks the office an opportunity to bank his cash and checks.

The monthly statement of the receipts of the office for November will not be available until today, but the close of business last night, Collector Carter estimated the receipts of the day at $25,000, with the balance of the receipts of the balance of the month, amounting to $139,992.23, make the total figures for the month of November $174,992.23. The receipts for the preceding month were but $44,527.66. Ten extra men were engaged at the counting, and five extra acted as cashiers during the day. In hundreds of instances a half dozen different kinds of stamps were desired, and it became necessary to figure fractional parts of stocks, with the result that some times a man would be a quarter of an hour at the counter and his purchases would not amount to more than four bits.

BEAUTIFUL AND ALSO USEFUL.

THOUSANDS ATTEND HOLIDAY RECEPTION AND DISPLAY OF JEWELRY.

Judging by the holiday reception of Feagans & Co. Jewelers, which has been a feature of the establishment since its opening, the holiday season is gaining in popularity. It is estimated that 8000 to 10,000 persons visited the store between the hours of 2 and 5 p.m.

A remarkable collection of beautiful and useful ornaments were on display. The throngs feasted their eyes on the cases of glittering jewels worth many thousands of dollars. One exquisite coral-pink pearl valued at $2500 alone was worth nearly $20,000. Ability and judgment were shown in the selection of every pearl of the sixty-three, so that each might be perfectly graduated with its neighbor in the crescendo and decrescendo of size. City Manager Plan.

are some of the things that have entered into Dayton's new form of government.

TRYING IT AT PHOENIX.

The following brief analysis of the work at Phoenix is given by The Times correspondent there.

Phoenix has had the Commission-Manager government since last spring. Its installation has resulted in endless complaint, but it is traceable to the plan itself. There is much criticism of the way the plan is being carried out, but the general expansion in various lines accounts for the increase.

The city and four Commissioners and a Mayor, who appoint the Manager, Auditor, Tax Collector and Registrar. The Manager's salary is $3000 a year. He employs all officials and employees not mentioned in the present charter. He exercises a general supervision over all departments. His authority is absolute. If the Commissioners made any attempt to interfere with the Manager they were not successful. W. A. Farish, the man chosen for the position, is a very positive character. He has had selected employees regardless of politics. His selections and methods have been criticized, but much of criticism can be traced to the fact that the Commissioners made themselves unpopular with two license ordinances, against which referendums were invoked.

EXPORTS HOLDING AT NORMAL MARK.

The November statement of business transacted at the office of the collector for November, while exports are at a normal figure, they are confined practically to two countries, Mexico and Canada. The total for the month was $1,000,000. The total for the month of last year was $1,000,000.

The receipts for November, 1914, are $57,000 in round numbers, as compared with $45,000 for November, 1913. The total imports for November, 1914, were valued at $463,353, as compared with $210,000 for the same month in 1913, and $380,391 for November, 1912.

Imports from Austria-Hungary for the month just ended were $1543, and for the same month last year, $1797; Belgium, $3698, and $4751, respectively; France, $1418, and $2258; Germany, $15,775 and $38,782; Italy, $19,000 and $4275; England, $32,369 and $24,474; Russia, $1000 and $1000; Mexico, $193,801 and $263,000; Canada, $25,971, and $30,000; Japan, $22,173 and $112,198; China, $25,025 and $219.

These figures indicate a great falling off in the value of imports into the local port, from countries engaged in the European war, with the exception of England, demonstrating the power of that country on the sea. The trade of the neutral nations holds its own, while that of China is enormously increased.

BOWERS CRACKPROOF HOSE

Other manufacturers have limited Crackproof Hose in appearance—but in appearance only. The outside looks the same because it is corrugated. But inside (the part you cannot see) where the real test comes, where all the wear and tear of pulling around, bending, kinking, etc., come—that is where "Crackproof" stands up under the hardest conditions. It took us years to perfect this hose so that it would not leak, kink, Crack or Break. Every foot of it is plied with Crackproof in mind. It will never crack and every foot of it is tested before leaving the factory to stand a pressure of more than 500 pounds square inch. Insist upon getting the genuine. See that it has the name Bowers Crackproof.

TREND OF THE FINANCIAL NEWS.

CHIEF EVENTS OF YESTERDAY.
(At Home.) The reopening of many stock exchanges and other markets for business was the predominant feature in financial circles. Nowhere was there any attempt to throw on the markets great quantities of securities, indicating a wholesome respect in values of our stocks and bonds, but, on the other hand, several issues were bid up over former prices with no sales. As a result of opening day sentiment industrial issues are showing a greatly strengthened position, and some—those enjoying large war contracts—gained many points. The Coffee Exchange opened with a good business. On this coast wheat and flour exports for November broke all records for any month in history and were limited only by the ships available to haul our goods. Wheat jumped 1 1/2 cents on strong export buying.

RESPECT RESULTS.
Don't quarrel with the method of any man. Be satisfied to look for results. There is only one test to which you have a right to put the other fellow—it is his success in honestly getting something across. There is only one question to ask of any man. It is whether or not he fairly accomplishes what he starts out to do. There is nothing in this old world like having the goods.

DOLLS FOR AMERICANS.
It has been suggested that the paralysis of all German industry at this time offers a happy occasion for Americans to establish themselves in the manufacture of dolls. It occurs to us that, in view of all Europe's turmoil, the United States may be obliged to also furnish the biggest part of the doll market for the next ten or fifteen years.

SIMMERING DOWN.
On the face of things it looks as if the fires in Mexico were burning low. Villa's problem is becoming much simpler. He has only to fight it out with Zapata and Gonzalez. It is true that other aspirants may arrive, but in the meantime he has only a couple of opposing armies to face. If we omit Carranza, who seems to be successfully eliminating himself.

PUE ENOUGH.
"When I am dead and gone, Billy," said the sick wife to her watchfully waiting husband, "you won't go and marry my sister Kate, will you dear?" "No indeed, darling," replied her spouse. "No indeed, I've had pie enough in this family."

That is the way it is with the American people. They have had pie enough in Mexico. "Watchful waiting" has cost them twenty young loyal American lives and over 500 millions of dollars, and they have got for it—nothing; not even the salute of twenty-one guns, to obtain which the money was expended.

GIFTS FROM ON HIGH.
A preacher who needed a suit of clothes came face to face with Providence in a funny way. He lives at Glendale. We do not know if the same thing would work in Los Angeles. While wondering what to do he heard a scratching at his door and went out to receive a puppy which was lost and for which there was a large reward. He got the reward and the suit of clothes. Now help of any kind does not have to be from heaven in order to seem heavenly. The preacher did not look the gift dog in the mouth. Elijah got his from a raven once when the cupboard ran low, and we suppose that a dog is just as good as a bird if he delivers the goods.

VILLA'S CHEAP MONEY.
At the outset of his career as the head of the Constitutionalists Gen. Villa issued a large amount of paper money. This currency has not been held in high repute. American banks along the border have never touched it at any price and lately they have been paying only about 25 cents for the money of the established government. This latter, including all of the issue by Diaz. A few speculators have taken a limited chance in Mexico and have been buying the Villa paper at 15 cents on the dollar. Carranza has announced that he will repudiate the Villa notes. This is poor politics on his part for two reasons. It will lose him all sympathy and support throughout the north where this paper has been riotously scattered and hopefully held, and it will place him in a bad light with all the Mexican public and probably with the world at large. Villa may have had no authority for his issue of funds, but it was a measure of expediency and every body knows that Villa will keep his word. People believe that Villa will keep his word and redeem his money. If they make him President or permit him to name the President the money he has uttered will be good without any redemption because it will be a part of the proper currency of the land. This will be a strong argument in his favor, just as the repudiation of the issue will come very near being the finish of Mr. Carranza and his aspirations.

A "CITY MANAGER"—WHAT?
Thirty days from date we, the people of Los Angeles, promise to pay our respects to the idea of a business manager for the business departments of the city government, with much interest, compounded or confounded, in the outcome.

He is not to be a City Manager, if he is to be at all, for that is a misnomer. He will be the manager of city departments, directing the business system of the city government and injecting into it all the rules of economy and efficiency that our cumbersome charter and State Constitution will allow. Maybe, if the people decide to hire him and make use of his plan, he will be known as a Business Director or Business Manager—but never a City Manager, for when it comes to managing the city the people will continue to do that in future as they have in the past. So there will be no delegation of powers.

Los Angeles has been overmanaged, no doubt. Its charter is an intricate organic instrument that few understand or that permits little of the application of genuine business principles to the government operating under it. Some of the proponents of the Manager-Council idea now before the people have said that we could save $2,000,000 a year by applying business methods to the management of the city and its various departments.

Theoretically, there is nothing finer in prospect than that opportunity afforded by the proposed change in city government. The responsibility would be centralized, the same scheme of checks and balances would apply to all departments, one man would have under his fingers the management of all the actual business of the city, leaving legislation to the Mayor and Council. Under this manager would be department directors of his own choosing, men selected by civil service test according to the plans and specifications drawn by the manager himself. Installing his own system and working into it the integral parts necessary to harmony and co-operation, the business boss no doubt could bring about that effective co-ordination in service that would eliminate waste and place on a plane of efficiency every wing of the municipal service.

This would be a most desirable condition of affairs in any city government. If the effect of all this co-operation, co-ordination and economy would be to make a saving of $2,000,000 a year the people of Los Angeles would be dull indeed if they did not avail themselves of the change to be governed under the money-saving plan.

But the whole question upon which hangs the application of business methods to civic government is whether the divorce of politics from our municipal management can be made absolute.

Simply because we elect officials as non-partisans does not, as a great many people erroneously suppose, preclude the possibility of politics being played with or by these officials.

The day has not yet arrived in American politics where the people's business is done solely in the interest of the people without any thought of political effect. A Councilman, ambitious next year to be Mayor, surrounds himself with a machine and as much popularity as he can afford, aligning himself with this or that interest and finally blossoms forth, a finished product of a certain machine of politics.

The success of the proposed Business Manager plan depends not alone upon the divorcement of city business from political interest, but from all outside interest as well. If the work of the Business Manager is to be calculated upon the deadly parallel of applied efficiency he need not be advised by this league or that, by this club or that association. Their advice is unnecessary, for he rules by studied efficiency standards, cold-blooded and without sentiment.

The proposed plan is that the manager be appointed by the City Council, who decides what is to be paid for the job and then finds the man to fit the job—or maybe to fit the salary. The manager or business boss or whatever he is to be called is the creature of the Council. He can be eliminated at any time he incurs the displeasure of the Council. We have now certain Councilmen who specialize in certain departments of the city government.

What Councilman is there in that body today who would bow to a superior knowledge? Not one of them would recognize in any man a superior familiarity with his chosen department. That is, of course, outside the departments of scientific work like engineering and the law.

What guarantee would the people have that the business director is to be the director of business and that his will is to be absolute in matters of business, no matter what the Council says or what it thinks?

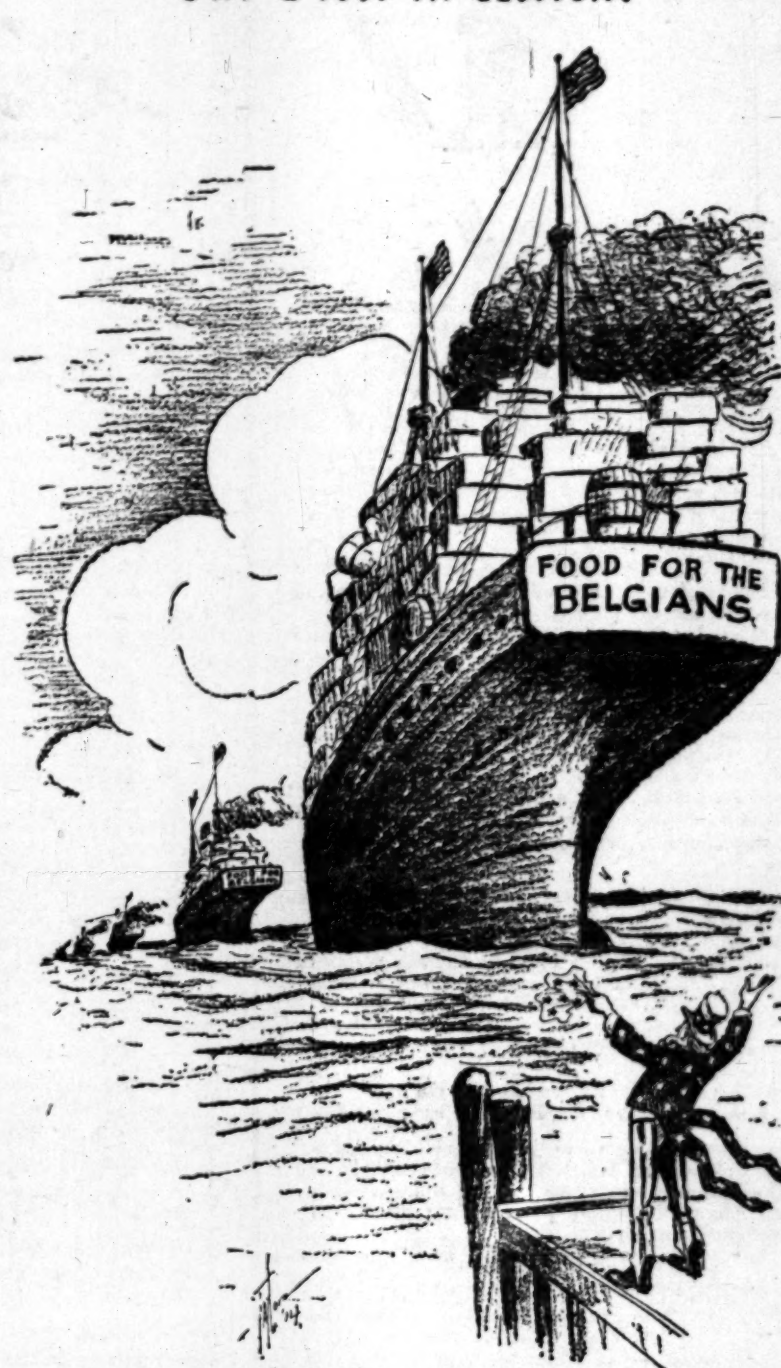

In the main the work would be subject to review by the Council, or dependent upon the Council for legislation. His success or failure lies with the members of the Council. It is through this agency that politics creeps from force of habit into our municipal structure; where favoritism has been riotously scattered and where politics cuts quite as much ice in the main as it ever did, notwithstanding the elimination of party designation.

Once the people are assured that their business is to be handled in a businesslike way, as the business is handled by a successful corporation in which they have stock, there will be no difficulty in remodeling our city government.

The quail shooting over in the next field is always better. Heaven knows our municipal business is not conducted on business principles, and the sharper critics of our present system are the successful business men. The average voter doesn't know a cost unit system from a flock of cormorants. He pays his proportion of the upkeep of the city and it is up to the officials he elects to give 100 cents worth of service for every dollar expended.

The biggest business in Los Angeles is the city's public business and here is a chance for some of the city's biggest business men, themselves heavy taxpayers, to look into the proposed change and tell the people what they think of it.

Our Fleet in Action.

INVASION OF CANADA.

The alleged intention of Germany to send an army into Canada has excited the apprehension that the United States would be required by the Monroe doctrine to assist the Canadians to repel invasion. Ex-President Taft disposes of this assumption. He shows that only in the event of Germany conquering Canada and annexing it as a part of the German Empire would the Monroe doctrine be put in operation. If Germany should conquer Canada and Germany from Great Britain a money indemnity as a condition of its release, we would have no call to interfere.

But the contingency suggested is an exceedingly remote one. It would require more ships than Germany possesses to transport an adequate army to Canada, and more cruisers than she can muster to protect the transports from British ships of war. Again, while the United States as a nation could not supply the Canadians with arms, nor allow armed bodies to be recruited on our soil, we could not prevent our citizens as individuals from selling guns and powder to Canada, to be smuggled from ports on Ontario, Erie and Huron to Canadian shores; nor could we stop our people from stocking over the border by tens and even hundreds of thousands to help our northern neighbor to resist German invasion.

It is true, also, that there are many Germans among the 1,100,000 in the United States who might cross into Canada to help the troops of the Kaiser. But all the soldiers that Wilhelm could land in Canada, reinforced by all the Germans who could prove so disloyal to their adopted country as to reinforce a German invading army in Canada could not hope to prevail against the Canadians themselves, even without the American assistance they would be sure to obtain.

AN OPTIMISTIC VIEW.

The breakdown in the machinery for doing business in the Eastern States caused by the European war has been substantially repaired. Order has been brought out of financial chaos, and while the usual volume of business is not being transacted in the usual channels, there has been wonderful recuperation, and normal conditions are in rapid process of restoration.

The Middle Western States have been exceptionally favored. "Exhaustive investigation of industrial conditions," says the Cleveland Plain Dealer of recent date, "and careful analysis of the business record of the year indicates that Cleveland has little cause for pessimism, much to be proud of and much cause for gratitude. Buffalo and Detroit have had a good year. Pittsburgh had one big spur, but Cleveland's prosperity has been unprecedented and uniform."

Macaulay said in substance that the most wasteful wars, the direst pestilence and the greatest maladministration of government have never been able to reduce the aggregate wealth of any English-speaking people half so fast as the individual efforts of every man to get on in life have built it up. It is true indeed that any loss or disaster to one nation in one part of the world affects more or less every nation with which it is in commercial relations. We are all parts of the great fabric of civilization and a rent at one end or in the center will affect the warp and woof of the whole cloth. A crop shortage in Russia, even in times of peace, affects the price of wheat in Chicago. A bank failure in Australia affects the price of exchange in New York.

California—especially Los Angeles—has thus far not had its industries perceptibly disturbed by the European war.

The Cleveland Plain Dealer is an intelligent optimist. It says:

"Since the outbreak of the war in Europe money has been tight. Even before hostilities commenced the countries of Europe began to multiply their bank reserves. Not only were millions of gold withdrawn from this country by England, but credits throughout the world were suspended. Naturally, industry was temporarily crippled and employment in important industries became uncertain, but the United States, at its worst less seriously affected than any other country in the world, is now believed by careful students to be on the threshold of the greatest era of prosperity probably ever enjoyed by this or any other nation."

Here in Los Angeles our factories and foundries are running on full time; as many skyscrapers as usual are going up; the number of the unemployed is not increasing; our crops are bounteous, the prices obtained for them are higher than ever, and there is abundance of money at 6 and 7 per cent. for borrowers who have adequate security to offer.

THE PUBLIC OWNERSHIP FOOLY.

One of the curious features of the time is the recurrence of effort to have the government buy and operate our telegraphs and telephones. That is the next step urged by the Democratic Postmaster-General.

There are newspapers with so little regard for the record of government ownership, or so little information on the subject, as to stand for it and to argue that we are much worse off in this country with respect to telegraphs, especially, than is the case with such countries even as Russia, Austria, Scandinavian lands, and so on, to say nothing of Germany, Great Britain and France.

Every traveler knows that the telephone service abroad is unspeakably miserable and wretched, particularly where government owns and operates it. Everyone who knows about the subject is aware, also, that the government-owned telegraph service abroad is quite generally a failure, instead of being the great success claimed for it.

It is but a few months since the Home Secretary of England announced that he must have at least $50,000,000 to cover the deficit in the operation of the telegraphs. Such a demand in the United States would overturn a government.

No thought is given, remarks the Buffalo Evening News, to the idea that if government bought the telephone and telegraph, it would cost in the neighborhood of $2,000,000,000, and it would add an enormous sum to the pay roll of the nation, giving scope of thousands more places to be the spoil of politicians.

Some say that government might ignore the present telephones and telegraphs and build its own lines, operating them in its own way, and by that means destroying the property of private citizens that has been built up under the law. It is not to be supposed that government is reduced to that state of meanness and lack of scruple, and even if it were, it would not find sufficient support in the country to permit such a confiscatory plan to be carried out.

The Department of Agriculture has defined the minimum of sweetness that oranges must attain on the tree if later sweating is not to be held to conceal inferiority. This is to protect dealers in foreign oranges and of course has nothing to do with the California brand.

LIQUOR AND THE LADY.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

Sister, it is painfully evident they still regard us as the weaker vessel, feeble-bodied and feeble-minded. It is in the nature of a masculine conspiracy, too, for the evidence has cropped up in three parts of the world at the same time.

For instance, there is Mr. Theodore Bell, an official of the California Grape Protective Association. He feels that the future prosperity of the wine industry rests upon the purification of the trade into a strictly temperance movement. Agreed. But—

Among the tentative suggestions which he offers to that highly commendable end is item No. 5, which reads: "Drastic laws concerning the sale of intoxicating liquor to minors, women, or to persons in an intoxicated or partially intoxicated condition."

How does that impress you? And in Great Britain comes the edict that no intoxicating liquor of any kind must be sold to women before 11:30 a.m. or after 9 p.m., and any woman endeavoring to purchase same to be instantly put under arrest.

The suffragettes are mad about it. Naturally. Because, if the same rule were applied to men, half the volunteers for the British army would be under arrest and never get to the front.

The British government's explanation is that there has been an alarming increase of drunkenness since the war broke out among women, that in fact, a majority of the cases before the courts were feminine. Which may be all too true. But, of course, as anyone who was in England during the Boer war will remember, there isn't a policeman who would commit the unpatriotic offense of arresting a soldier of the crown while in uniform if he could possibly help it. He has a sympathetic eye for the celebrating brother who is about to risk his life for his country. Nothing could be more reasonable in his eyes than that Tommy should want to indulge in a little flag before he leaves. But with the woman it is different. How dare she want to drown her sorrows? How dare she consider she has any sorrows to drown?

Masculine heroism, you see, is entitled to all the leniency, feminine heroism—well, there isn't any such thing, or if there is, it must be strictly sober heroism, if you please.

It is a very delicate discrimination. Tommy may make a beast of himself to his heart's content, the public and the police will close one eye and make every excuse for him. But Ella—how, how dare she! It is monstrous, disgraceful, intolerable. Since for the score is certainly not sauce for the gander. What next?

Logically, of course, it is more than desirable that the mothers of the next army shall be sober, frugal, well-balanced, sensible people. Agreed! Agreed! But what about husbands and fathers and sons? Why pick on wives, mothers and daughters? And, in any case, we should have thought that it is the noncombatant, stay-at-home, dreary future to face, who is entitled to the most leniency. Tommy has all the exhilaration of action; he is the proud boy who will reap all the glory of upholding the greatness of the empire; he, for the moment, is distinctly a Lord Kitchener. Lord Kitchener did not dare to go further than advise exuberant friends not to be too generous in "treating" Tommy, but that dear Tommy should be expected to be strong-minded enough to decline too much treatment—oh, well, that would be rather a tall order. Masculine superior strength and their six ounces more brain were not intended for anything as stern as that.

But Ella! How dare she be guilty of such weakness, of any weakness? Poor little Lizzie. Just because a small percentage of her has found her desolation more than she can bear her whole sex is put under a vulgar, discriminating ban and a government edict is issued which is a grievous insult to British womanhood which has admittedly risen to this great occasion with an endurance, an enthusiasm, a grit that any nation could well be proud of. For it must be remembered that women are nearly three to one in Great Britain and the fact that a few courts have had occasion to try a few cases of feminine drunkenness is no sort of criterion of the state of virtue in which the various sexes find themselves. The courts would be overflowing with cases of masculine indulgence if Police Constable X 215 cast the same dutiful eye upon Tommy that he reserves for Ella, and the ultimate percentage of sex against sex would certainly leave the women in an infinitesimal minority.

Still, war is masculinity's great opportunity, and we should doubtless see eye to eye with the British government if we were a man—and in England. But Mr. Theodore Bell has not the same argument in California. By the insertion of Clause 8 in his "suggestions" he is offering women a gratuitous insult. He would imply that reform must begin with the women and children, whereas we all know it isn't quite like that. Possibly a percentage of one per thousand of the women of California drink at all, and those that have been indiscreet in their indulgence would be a paltry handful. Whereas, on the masculine side—well, we all know about that.

The plain fact is that in a general way a woman can be trusted not to make a beast of herself. While her gallant protector—well, not always. Many a fair, frail wife must ponder that Clause 8 with an ironical little smile.

RIPPLING RHYMES.

THE TRIFLER.

The man who loafs the hours away, who does not strive to earn his pay, full soon his job will lose; ere long his boss will rise in wrath, and chase him down the garden path, and pat him with his shoes. The poor are with us all the time, according to a book sublime; we need not wonder why; so many dodge all kinds of work, and loaf and lounge, and fool and shirk, and let each chance go by. So many will not try to earn the coin they're drawing in return for hours they foot away; so many see their bosses swamped, yet don't endeavor to be prompt except when drawing pay. The trifling, inefficient jay, who goes his bootless, futile way, across the modern stage—he is the human race's jinx, he is the middle of the Sphinx, the problem of the age. As thick as sands beside the sea, or as the dogs upon a flea, we see him everywhere; the more we muse and contemplate this human puzzle and his fate, the greater our despair. And while we muse, the men who tell must pay to make the kettle boil for him who will not strive; must buy his coffin when he's dead, and see his howling children fed while he remains alive.

The California legislators are preparing for the session early in the new year. Why not place the foot-killer at the door?

But at that it must be admitted that Zapata got into the City of Mexico before the Car reached Berlin or the Kaiser Paris.

THE COST.

Of late we heard dark oracles proclaim, In History's alarming name, And with no flash of shame, The cure for all our ills lies in War! And while they flaunt their flippant lore, With hideous irony the hope-barred door To Mars' red altar gapes, and forth they fare.

With torch and sword the Furies, driven one, Hailed as the god's bronze image come to life. But, nearer seen, a pietistic Hun! With wild, fanatic air, In Death's-head helmet and greaves war with prayer, He sets the unwilling world in myriad strife To orphan Europe, plowing hill and meadow For famine's harvest of the iron seed; From that blue sea that knows no shore On fair, defenseless towns lets slip The havoc of the pirate ship; And, drowning conscience with the cannon's roar, Holds his Frank parody As part of a divine decree, While with holy rage He wars upon his Age.

Till the pure Alps ensangline every sea! Now, with a rusted key unlocks The Evil of Pandora's box; Stills the world's music, stays its dance of joys; Makes murderers of boys Who yesterday made mimic murder of their toys; Turns brotherhood to hate, And floods the heavens with carnage that would waste All devils but a devil incarnate! Greater than Bonaparte?—Yes, by a country's cost Of lives devoured, of fireside loving lost.

O country mine! Who shall seduce thee to such mad designs? A nobler vision, happier fate be thine!—Robert Underwood Johnson in New York Times.

OWNER OF RICH REALTY PASSES.

Reputed Largest Holder of New York Property.

Fortune Estimated as High as Hundred Millions.

Many Eccentricities Among Bachelor's Traits.

John G. Wendell, many times a millionaire and reputed to be the largest individual holder of New York City realty, died at his winter home in Santa Monica early yesterday morning after a short illness. He was 72 years of age and unmarried.

Various estimates of the value of Mr. Wendell's holdings have been made, ranging from $10,000,000 to twice that sum. Aside from his real estate holdings in New York, which were said to be second in extent only to those owned by the Astor estate, he was also the owner of much property in the suburbs of that city.

A vacant lot next to Mr. Wendell's brownstone house at Fifth avenue and Thirty-ninth street he always refused to sell or build upon. "My dog must have a place to romp," he explained. This home and lot have been valued at $100,000.

The Wendell fortune was an inheritance from his father. It was one of the dead man's policies never to sell any land. Another of Mr. Wendell's characteristics was that no hotel or amusement place of any kind was allowed to exist on his property.

MATTER OF MORALS. "Call it sentiment if you will," he is reported to have said. "Perhaps it is, but I want to keep the little buildings as they were when they came to me. There are also moral and legal reasons. In the first place, I will not be responsible for the machinations of the evil one. I have plenty to do without being responsible for immoral souls."

Mr. Wendell leaves a sister, Mrs. L. A. Swope, who was with him when he died. Mrs. H. C. Hollwedel, who is said to be a niece, was also with him when he died, as was her husband.

With Mr. Wendell's death passed away a man who had been a winter resident of Santa Monica for a quarter of a century, and whose private car, Buffington, was known by railroad men from coast to coast.

At one time this car had been a combination baggage car and coach, but it was converted into a private car by fitting up the baggage end as a bedroom. Here, in a massive brass bed, bolted to the floor and ceiling, Mr. Wendell slept while traveling. A

TUESDAY MORNING.

OWNER OF RICH REALTY PASSES.

Reputed Largest Holder of New York Property.

Fortune Estimated as High as Hundred Millions.

Many Eccentricities Among Bachelor's Traits.

John G. Wendell, many times a millionaire and reputed to be the largest individual holder of New York City realty, died at his winter home in Santa Monica early yesterday morning after a short illness. He was 73 years of age and unmarried.

Various estimates of the value of Mr. Wendell's holdings have been made, ranging from $50,000,000 to twice that sum. Aside from his real estate holdings in New York, which were said to be second in extent only to those owned by the Astor estate, he was also the owner of much property in the suburbs of that city.

A vacant lot next to Mr. Wendell's brownstone house at 217th avenue and Thirty-ninth street, always refused to sell or build upon. "My dog must have a place to romp," he explained. This home and lot have been valued at $150,000.

The Wendell fortune was an inheritance from his father. It was one of the dead man's policies never to sell any land. Another of Mr. Wendell's characteristics was that no hotel or amusement place of any kind was allowed to exist on his property.

MATTER OF MORALS. "Call it sentiment if you will," he is reported to have said. "Perhaps it is, but I want to keep the little buildings as they were when they came to me. There are also moral and legal reasons. In the first place, I will not be responsible for the machinations of the evil one. I have plenty to do without being responsible for immoral souls."

Mr. Wendell leaves a sister, Mrs. L. A. Swope, who was with him when he died. Mrs. H. C. Hollwedel, who is said to be a niece, was also with him when he died, as was her husband.

With Mr. Wendell's death passed away a man who had been a winter resident of Santa Monica for a quarter of a century, and whose private car, Buffington, was known by railroad men from coast to coast.

At one time this car had been a combination baggage car and coach, but it was converted into a private car by fitting up the baggage end as a bedroom. Here, in a massive brass bed, bolted to the floor and ceiling, Mr. Wendell slept while traveling. A carpet on the floor and a securely-bolted dresser and a few chairs gave a homelike atmosphere to the little room on wheels. The former coach end of the car was used as a dining-room and as sleeping quarters for the cook and attendants.

Shortly after Mr. Wendell arrived here two weeks ago, the Buffington was sent to the Pullman Car Company for repairs. As a result, his last trip to New York will not be in the Buffington, but in a private car, which was chartered yesterday for the trip by Mrs. Swope. This car will be attached to the Santa Fe train leaving here at 8 o'clock Saturday night.

NOISE HIS AVERSION. Always nervous and in recent years the victim of ill-health, Mr. Wendell was a stickler for quiet. The converted baggage car, with its noiseproof floor and sides, was an evidence of this. While traveling he also insisted that as little noise as possible be made about the car, and often at nights he insisted that the car be detached from the train and placed on a siding.

On his last trip Mr. Wendell was the victim of a paralytic stroke near Winslow, and was attended by Dr. Oscar S. Brown, who came on to this city with him. During periods of consciousness he is said to have asked for his pet parrot and his canary and his cat, all of which he brought from his New York home with him. Eighteen trunks were also brought here by him.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Hollwedel and Mrs. Swope refused to be seen last night, but said a statement might be made today. They said the dead man was always opposed to publicity and they would follow his implied wishes so far as possible.

IN FLESH FROM WAGNER SCORES.

HISTORICAL-MUSICAL PAGEANT TO FEATURE BENEFIT FOR TEUTON SUFFERERS.

A historical pageant, in which characters from German history and literature will be portrayed in the life by art students to interpretive music, will feature the Kirmess to be staged in Shrine Auditorium Friday night and Saturday afternoon and evening by the German-Austrian-Hungarian Relief Committee. The proceeds from the Christmas-tree section will be donated to local charities; the remainder will be used for the relief of the wounded and suffering in the countries now battling with the allies.

More than 100 persons will take part in the pageant, which will open with folk songs, introducing characters out of the realms of legendary lore, and will thence merge into the heroic epoch of Wagnerian interpretive strains. Following will come characters in chronological array down to the present, with accompanying interpretive music from the German composers.

As a setting to the pageant, which will really be a procession of historic characters, there will be Ithineand villages and gypsy camps and all the settings of a Fatherland fair. There will also be a Hungarian village, with a horse educated to dance the czarda, and many booths, dancing platforms, and last, but not least, a fairyland for

Do You Love Fine Paintings

Then you will be interested in this collection at the Kanst Art Gallery.

Twenty-eight artists exhibiting at the Chicago Art Institute this year are represented in it.

F. W. Cuprien's prize painting, "White's Point," is a California Coast scene that has attracted a good deal of attention. E. J. Couze, who is represented here by "The Fish Chamer," is the only artist who has won the first prize for two successive years at the National Academy of Design in New York.

Two oil paintings by Thomas Hill were selected from several in this collection for the San Francisco exhibition.

This entire collection, containing pictures ranging in price from $3 to $5000, is on sale now at a discount of 25% to 40% on each picture.

An oil painting, an etching, or a water color from this collection will make a Christmas gift of rare value.

We welcome visitors. Come and study the pictures.

The peasant all things are in the

SEYMOUR TALKS WILLIE HOPPE.

Thinks Hoppe is the Master of De Oro.

At Eleven Billiard Marvel a Master.

Asent the coming visit of the world champion billiardist, William Hoppe, who is to play Melbourne Inman, champion at the English game, at the Los Angeles Athletic Club on the evenings of December 14-15, Arthur Seymour, one of our strongest cue-men, yesterday chatted in an interesting manner of his early acquaintance with the youthful prodigy.

"I first saw Hoppe in the winter of 1898-9, when he was 11 years of age," said Seymour. "He showed, even then, remarkable insight in the game, playing straight rail billiards, for an average of about ten points per inning."

YOUTHFUL PRODIGY.

"Charles Harrer gave him his first instructions in the science of play, and he was later coached by Maurice Daly. Such progress did he make that when I met him two years afterward he was averaging from ten to twenty-five points at 14-3 ballgame. Once in that year, at Chicago, he made a single run of 249 at that difficult game."

"Hoppe won the championship of the world at 18-1 ballgame at Paris at the age of 19, and has ever since been without a rival. He now holds the three ballgame titles, 14-3, 18-2 and 18-1."

"I also think Hoppe the greatest three-cushion player in the world, and feel certain that he can beat the title-holder, De Oro, if they ever meet in a match. He played Marvel, conceding to outclass all other men at the three-cushion game, for six weeks when in Spain, and toward the last was consistently defeating him."

REMARKABLE SHOT.

"One marvelous stroke possessed by Hoppe puts him in a class alone. He can make a five-cushion carom, which commences with a draw down the long diagonal of the table. Unless seen this shot would be thought impossible. And it is impossible to most men. The tremendous stretch of wrist and quickness of attack necessary to the feat seem to belong to Willie alone."

"As a boy, William was a delightful companion, and he has lost none of his good qualities since. He never talks about himself or his name, and puts up with the failings of a nervous opponent with a smile."

"Little Willie made a fortune for his father before attaining his majority, and has done well for himself since."

RESEMBLES IVES.

Regarding style Hoppe resembles Frank Ives more than any former master, having Ives' almost faultlessly consistent skill of execution. The fact that he is not doing so well against Inman at the English game as did Ives against the former English champion, Roberts, I attribute largely to his lack of interest in the game beyond the needs of the present tour. It is unlikely that he will play the game after this series of exhibitions.

"Ives made $30,000 by vanquishing Roberts at his own game, and the pay stroke of fortune started him on a style of living which caused his early death."

"On this tour, Hoppe is beating Inman at ballgame by about three points to one, and winning every game; while Inman is winning all the English games from Hoppe by two points to one."

The Dorval Park Jockey Club of Montreal, owing to the war conditions, has extended the closing date for its $25,000 International Derby to February 15, 1915.

REDHEADS AND TEAL COME IN WITH COOL WEATHER.

DUCK hunters say that birds are coming in with the cooling weather to an extent preasing much more satisfactory shooting than has obtained during the past few warm weeks. Redheads and teal are most in evidence, with a few flocks of the heavier mallard and canvasback.

Sunday shooting was, on the whole, fairly successful, but red hunters have been so busy in the neighborhood of Boca Chico after fresh arrivals that the fowl are driven far afield before legitimate sportsmen are allowed by law to begin firing.

On Bixby Slough, the ducks are said to be so plentiful, at least in the smaller varieties, that the few guns working from the Dominguez Gun Club are insufficient to mark them down. Large breeds are constantly arriving. George Hardin and H. S. Modine bagged twenty-one birds on the slough, teal, canvasback, redheads and blue-tail giving variety.

Jeff Riddle secured the limit on Nigger Slough, just below Fred Grewell and Claude Hunter brought down big bags at Dominguez, and report thousands of ducks in sight.

J. B. Eads and E. Hewitt, bringing in good bags, said that thirty sportsmen present with them at Dominguez secured from ten to fifteen ducks each.

C. Holden and his party found good shooting at Elizabeth Lake.

Charles Rodier killed twelve at Playa del Rey.

WILSON TO BE YALE CAPTAIN.

[BY A. F. KNOTT WRITER.]

NEW HAVEN (CT.) Nov. 30.—Alexander Dickson Wilson of Binghamton, N. Y., was tonight selected captain of the Yale University football team for next season. The selection was made by the twenty-three players who won their "Y" in the Harvard and Princeton games this year. The vote was unanimous.

Wilson, who is a junior, has played on the varsity eleven for the last two seasons. As a sophomore he first played at full-back, but was drafted into the quarter-back's position for the big games. He played quarter-back all this season.

MISTAH WILLIS HE HAS BLOWED.

Very Meek Exit of a Very Haughty Person.

Can't Get a Return Match with Langford.

Will Meet Sam MacVea in New Orleans.

A very meek and humble darky sneaked out of town last night. It was the haughty Mistah Henry Willis, who acted like the proud Emperor of Dahomey when he poked old Sam Langford in the mouth Thanksgiving Day at Vernon.

Before leaving Los Angeles, Mistah Willis visited fight headquarters. It was a forlorn contrast to his lofty demeanor when he had visited the place before.

"The door softly opened wide enough to admit a bullet head and Mistah Henry Willis crept humbly in, his hat in hand."

"I'm Henry Willis," he said meekly, he thought they had even forgotten what he looked like. "I was the wonder!" he faltered. "If that Mistah Sam Langford would PLEASE be so kind as to give me a return match."

He was told there was nothing doing for Sam and departed. He is now en route for New Orleans, where he is to meet Sam McVea in a twenty-round fight. As MacVea is not the fighter that Langford is, Willis will probably be able to restore his confidence and the luster of his debiline reputation. He is a strong young fighter who is liable to beat anyone anywhere.

KID WILLIAMS SMOTHERED HIM.

YOUNG DIGGINS ONLY LASTS THREE ROUNDS WITH THE BANTY CHAMP.

[BY DORSET WRITER—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 30.—Kid Williams, world's bantamweight champion, stopped Young Diggins of this city in the third round of their scheduled six-round battle at the Olympia A. A. before a capacity house tonight.

Toward the close of the third round Williams sent a hard right to the heart that staggered Diggins. He followed this with a series of rights and lefts to the body and head, that drove Diggins to the ropes. Diggins tried to come back, but Williams tore into him, showering a series of hard rights and lefts to the body and head that finally sent Diggins to the floor. He remained down for the count of nine and as soon as he regained his feet was felled again by a vicious right and left to the jaw.

CALEXICO LEADS VALLEY LEAGUE.

CLUBS ARE ALL WELD MATCHED AND SEASON WILL BE PROSPEROUS.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

CALEXICO, Nov. 30.—Up to the present time Calxico is the leader in the Imperial Valley Winter League of baseball, though the various teams are well matched and are doing as fine work as is to be found on any diamonds in the country. The standing of the clubs now is as follows:

Club	Won	Lost	P. C.
Calxico	4	2	666
El Centro	3	2	600
Imperial	3	3	500
Brawley	2	4	333

The interest taken in the league work this season has astonished the most sanguine supporters of the game, and from present indications the Imperial Valley Winter League will be on a firm footing, with its future assured next season.

WANT TO RETURN TO THE A.A.U. FOLD.

CATHOLIC LEAGUE BARRED BY RULING WANTS TO RETURN.

[BY A. F. DAY WRITER.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—As the result of action taken yesterday at a meeting of delegates from all parts of the country, the Catholic Young Men's National Union will apply for readmission as a member of the Amateur Athletic Union. The alliance between the two organizations was severed by the Amateur Athletic Union recently because of alleged athletic inactivity.

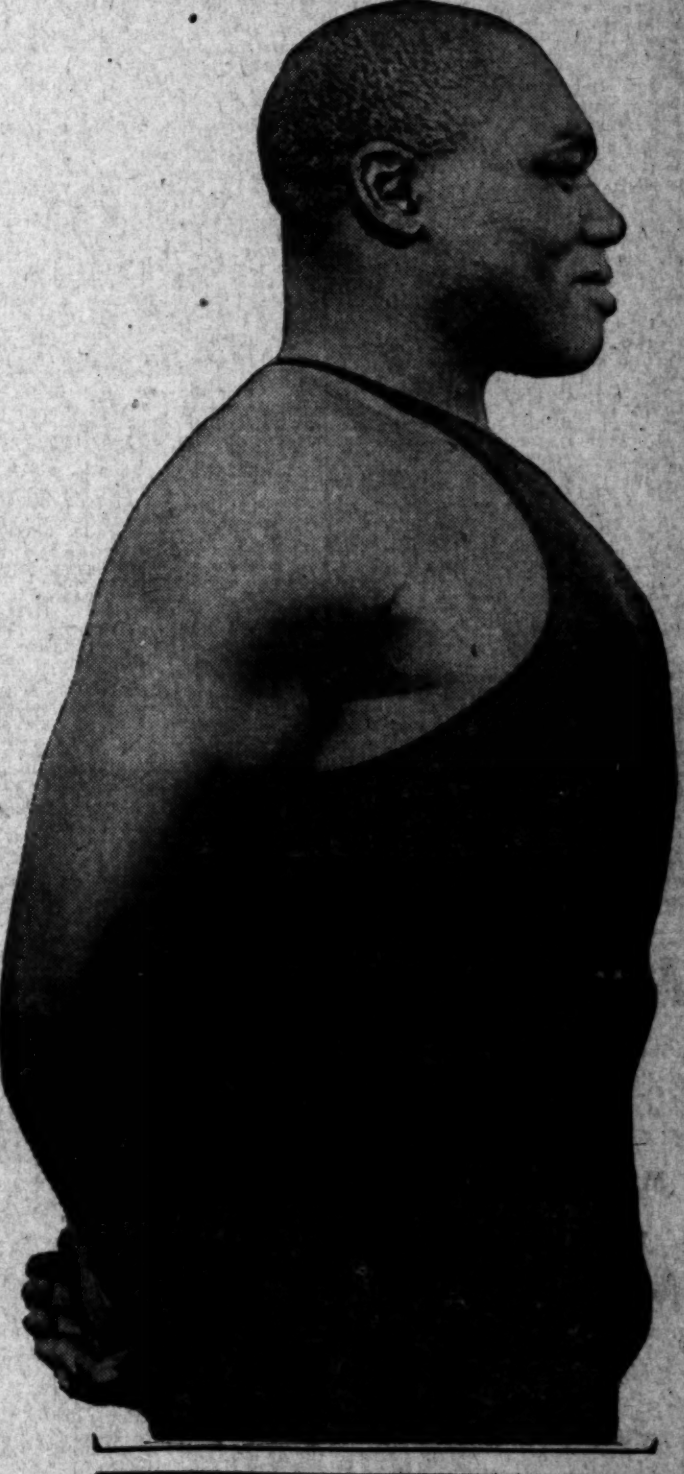

If the application for readmission is refused it was stated that each of the several hundred clubs of the Catholic Union, representing more than 155,000 members, would be required to secure separate membership in the Amateur Athletic Union.

SHOWING CLOSED CARS THIS WEEK.

A private automobile show is being staged this week by the Harold L. Arnold organization. The exhibit has been termed the closed car show. Both the Hudson salesroom and the adjoining salesroom, which is to be occupied by the new Dodge Brothers car, have been turned over to the exhibit.

There are $30,000 worth of Hudson closed models on display, which make an attractive showing against the white enameled interior of the salesrooms. The place is open every evening until 11 o'clock.

SAM LANGFORD TO RETIRE FROM THE RING NEXT MAY.

Black Sam Langford.
Who says he will retire from the ring next year.

SAM LANGFORD will leave for San Francisco this morning to join his manager, Joe Woodman. It is not likely that we will ever see the great little blackman again. He intends to retire from the ring next May.

This determination is not due to the fact that he is slipping in ability or strength. The truth is that the baby wants to become a farmer. He has a farm in Milford, Mass., and enough money to keep him in comfort all the rest of his days, and he wants to quit so strenuous a game as ring boxing.

Sam says he will be glad to fight Jack Johnson if a match can be arranged next March, but he has little hope. "Johnson wants too much money," said Sam, in a private conversation yesterday at Jack Doyle's. "No promoter could possibly meet his terms for a fight between two colored men. So I guess I am not likely to retire as heavyweight champion of the world. I think I could beat Jack Johnson if I got a chance, but don't fool yourself about that baby. He is one of the greatest fighters who ever lived. I don't believe any fighter alive can knock him out. He can be beaten, but he is too clever to be knocked out."

Some one asked Sam about his narrow escape with Willis last week. "He only really hurt me with one blow," said Sam. "Believe me, man, that was some punch. It was that first one in the first round. I didn't get over that for three rounds. Then my head got clear and I knew I was going to get him. I says to myself, Sam, if you don't get him this round, you'll get him the next round; if you don't get him the next round, you'll get him the next round. And I done it."

Sam says that after the first round, he took all Willis' punches on his gloves and elbows, and suffered no more damage. After the fifth or sixth round, Willis weakened and his blows had little of the earlier force.

BEECHER, WELTERWEIGHT, BEATS UP TOMMY GARY.

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 30.—The match tonight between the much-talked-of Willie Beecher and Tommy Gary was somewhat disappointing, inasmuch as the difference in weight makes it hard to tell just how these boys would stack up at 155 pounds, which was the advertised notch. Beecher weighed in at 143 1/2, at 2 o'clock and therefore fought to-night as a welterweight. Gary was down to 155 pounds and although he was beaten decisively, he need not be at all ashamed of his exhibition. He ate up terrific punishment and in the tenth round, groggy but game, he made a spectacular effort to rally and land a haymaker on the easterner.

The battle between Johnny Erle and Frank Izo was the fastest thing ever put on in this part of the country and although Erle won by a shade, Izo's exhibition was such that a return match is a necessity.

SAN BERNARDINO PLANS WORLD'S GREATEST TRACK

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SAN BERNARDINO, Nov. 30.—The construction of a ten-mile race course around Perris Hill, just north of this city, is considered by local capitalists and automobile men, and will be placed before the Chamber of Commerce and Board of Supervisors immediately. The proposition is backed by John Anderson and Charles Rouse, both capitalists and racing fans. Anderson is local representative of the Western Automobile Association.

Every point on the proposed course, which follows Highland avenue, Palm avenue, Base Line and Waterman avenue, will be visible from Perris Hill, where it is proposed to erect a mammoth grandstand to seat thousands of people. The Chamber of Commerce, it is understood, will undertake the building of easy curves at the four corners of the course.

Barney Oldfield and Louis Nikrent were in the city today, and looked over the track as proposed. They are of the opinion that the greatest racing track in the world can be made here.

How the Girls Get Away with It is More than Mr. Wad Can Figure Out!

By Gale.

Money Makers.

LIGHTWEIGHTS TOP-HEAVY FAVORITES WITH FANS.

Wolga-Ritchie Fight Draws $40,000—Welsh-White Nets $25,000—McAuliffe First 133-Pounder to Attract Attention—Lavinge Popular—Welsh and Ritchie Fail to Appeal.

WHEN Champion Freddie Welsh and Charley White, challenger, fought before a $25,000 house at the Milwaukee auditorium recently, the fact again was forcibly emphasized that the star lightweights are the most popular with boxing followers and bigger houses always result when they appear than is the case in any other division of pugilism.

Ring history records many instances of enormous receipts for boxing contests but the record house, for a ten-round no decision match, is held by the aforementioned Milwaukee auditorium.

THE RECORD.

Willie Ritchie, when he was the title holder, met Ad Wolgast over the short championship route and the pair of them attracted a total of $40,000 through the gate. That figure still stands as the banner in the lightweight annals and it probably will not be touched for many years to come.

There is only one match that might draw as well as did Ritchie and Wolgast and that would be a title contest between Welsh and Packey McFarland. There seems little likelihood of this bout ever being arranged, however, but if it should come to pass then it would not be surprising to see a $50,000 house result.

Chicago would support such a match generously. Boxing followers of the Windy City are great patrons of the game and with McFarland, who is an immense favorite, as one of the principals then it is certain that every fan who had or could borrow the price would be present at the ringside.

RISE OF LIGHTWEIGHTS. It is interesting to pore over ring history of the past and see how strong a hold the lightweights have always exercised over the sporting public. Starting with Jack McAuliffe the Queensbury art has produced some remarkable scrappers. Though in the old days the lightweights did not monopolize the limelight, latterly they have been making the strongest appeal to followers of the game and the Jeffries-Johnson affair the lightweights have been the prime favorites with the boxing fans for many years.

In McAuliffe's day John L. Sullivan and Jack Dempsey probably took preference over the great little Brooklyn, but at that McAuliffe was not without his drawing power. And McAuliffe was a sterling little warrior. Old-timers who saw the great Jack mix it with his opponents will tell you that his equal at the 133-pound notch never put up his hands before him in defense of the lightweight title.

McAULIFFE. Brooklyn Jack's bouts with Billy Myers, Jim Carney and that sort were classics, and Jack McAuliffe is the one man alive today who retained the real undefeated lightweight champion of the world. No one ever raised a decision over the Williams-town cooer, and he met the best man of his day. A pudgy specimen of a man and a lad who loved life as lived in the cafes and about the sporting resorts. For thirteen years McAuliffe held the title, and when he saw he was getting a bit old for the game he passed it on and retired. Following the retirement of the lightweight champion came "Kid" Lavigne, the wonderful scrapper from Saginaw, Mich. Lavigne was not as big a man as McAuliffe, but he was a great boxoffice attraction, and if you want to start an argument just tell some veteran of the ring name that any of our modern lightweights would have a "look in" with the great Saginaw Kid. But before you tell this to a veteran be sure to be on your mark and ready for a quick start.

LAVIGNE-WALCOTT. Lavigne fought the great Joe Walcott, the Barbadoes terror, twice, and held him as good as even on one occasion and bettered him the next time. You don't see lightweights taking on well-to-do fellows, do you, and what a welter that Walcott boy was. The great Saginaw Kid exceeded the speed limit in his mode of living, and as a result cut short his reign as king of the lightweights by several years.

Frank Erne followed Lavigne as the king of the lightweights, and the fact that Erne was the most polished lightweight the world has ever known. Erne was a smart fellow, a regular race track, and a patron of the race tracks. While he was champion Erne made a trip to Paris, and on that trip he wrote his pugilistic diary, for he was never much account after he returned, and was easy for men whom he could have beaten easily before he made his trip to gay Paris.

THE "OLD MASTER." Joe Gans won his title from Frank Erne at Fort Erie, where he knocked the once great Erne out in a lurch. All points considered, probably Gans was the ideal lightweight, though at that he was never really at his best as a 133-pounder. He was such a marvel with the gloves even when he was in the sure and yellow, that a noted cartoonist dubbed him the "Old Master," and he carried this name with him until his last battle with that dread disease—consumption—and even now when the fans bring up the memory of Joe Gans, they still refer to him as the "Old Master."

"Battling Nelson" succeeded Gans as the title holder, and in many respects he was the most remarkable of all the lightweights. He was practically impervious to punishment. In Nelson's lexicon there was no such word as "quit." No matter how badly they battered Nelson, he was always on the job for more. He possessed more recuperative power than any boxer, light, heavy, middle, feather, welter or bantam, that was ever in the ring.

POPULAR AD. Ad Wolgast, the man who followed Nelson on the lightweight throne, is considered the most wonderful drawing card of any of the former title-holders and though his prestige has suffered greatly because of his poor showing in recent contests, he is still regarded as top-liner from the box office standpoint.

Willie Ritchie, the only man in the entire history of pugilism who won a title on a foul, was not looked upon as a big drawing card. His best house was when he fought Wolgast at Milwaukee last March.

This brings the title right down to the present day. Freddie Welsh, holder of the crown, like Ritchie, is not the type of boxer that appeals particularly to boxing fans. Everyone concedes that the Welshman is a marvel of skill, but he has never shown punching power of the kind that made other champions such great ring idols.

THE REASON. It is easy to understand why lightweights are such popular favorites. They always put up a beautiful battle. It is indeed seldom that a championship changes hands in this division without a memorable struggle. There is usually a great deal of excitement attending the settlement of a title in the lightweight division.

The lightweight boxers hit just hard enough to suit the spectators; they usually possess great assimilative powers and they are rapid workers.

And as a general rule there are usually more good lightweights in the field at the same time than appears in other divisions of the Queensbury realm at a similar period.

TO BRING OUT AMATEUR TEAM. SCOTTY MONTIETH IS AFTER CHAMPIONSHIPS—INDOORS BIKE RACING.

A team of amateur boxers are coming to the Pacific Coast next summer from New York under the guidance of Scotty Montieth, the manager of Johnny Dundee. "They are to be genuine amateurs," said Scotty. "I have three now under my wing in New York who are anxious to come out to the fair and box for the championships. When Johnny and I go back I am going to look up some more. When I come back in June July, I expect to have an amateur from each of the boxing divisions. With good luck, I hope to take them back with all the boxing titles on this Coast."

Scotty, who has had a great deal of experience as a promoter and manager, says that he thinks it will be hard to establish wrestling in California as the successor of boxing; but he thinks there is an opening for two great sports, to take the place of professional boxing—amateur boxing and bicycle racing. "Bike racing is coming back into favor all over the world. They have gone crazy over it in Salt Lake City, San Francisco and other places. There is nothing to motor cycle racing. You might just as well go down to an electric power house and watch the wheels go round. There is no excitement in watching two machines. But there is a real thrill in bicycle racing."

New York's Public School Athletic League is teaching school children how to swim. About 1500 boys and half as many girls are being taught each week. Coach E. Courtney of the Cornell University swimmers, who has just celebrated his sixty-fifth birthday and who is serving his thirtieth year as rowing instructor at Ithaca, favors reducing the annual Poughkeepsie classic races from four to three miles. Members of the Cornell faculty also favor the change and the matter will be taken up by the Intercollegiate Rowing Association at its next meeting.

L.A.A.C. INDOOR ATHLETES BUSY.

TRACK, BILLIARDS, BASKETBALL FILL L.A.A.C. PROGRAMME. HOPPE COMING.

Basketball, track, billiards, gym work and football are the athletic events on the Los Angeles Athletic Club calendar for this month. The club basketball team will play picked teams December 3 and 7. On December 16 the club will hold its big indoor track meet, which promises to be one of the biggest events of the season. There will be ten events on the programme and such stars as Fred Kelly, Jim Donohue, Ben Ward, Mickey McClure and Howard Drew will be seen in action.

Willie Hoppe and Melbourne Inman, two of the greatest billiard experts in the world, will play a two-day match December 14 and 15, and on Thursday, December 17, the much-heralded junior gymnasium class will make its first appearance at the Christmas athletic vaudeville.

BAKERSFIELD IN TIE WITH L.A.A.C.

NONDESCRIPTS' STRONG SCRUM KEPT LOCALS IN DANGER.

The Los Angeles Athletic Club Rugby warriors returned yesterday from their northern trip, having played the Bakersfield Non-descripts to a 3-to-3 tie on Sunday.

The clubmen aver that the Bakersfield team is fully as strong as the Olympic outfit. It contains such stars as "Opener" Stanford, a man; Pauly of California, Boyle of L.A.A.C. fame, and Middledough, who used to star for Long Beach High in the old game. The non-descripts had a scrum which was the fastest thing ever seen and which kept the strong L.A.A.C. forwards on the run most of the time. This strong back and end of the Olympic game kept the locals from winning.

HUNTING SEASON HAS DEATH TOLL.

THIRTY-SEVEN KILLED IN WISCONSIN, MICH. BY HUNTERS. TWELVE WOUNDED.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.) DULUTH (Minn.) Nov. 29.—Eleven dead and twelve wounded in the toll of the big game hunting season in Minnesota, which will come to a close tonight at midnight.

The number of deer and moose killed is the largest in the history of the State. Probably 500 deer were brought to Duluth during the fall season ending at midnight today. Of this number twenty-four hunters were slain in Wisconsin, three more than were killed in 1913. In Michigan there were thirteen fatalities.

It is estimated that about 15,000 hunters were in the woods of the upper peninsula of Michigan alone.

FADELESS KHAKI.

The Secret that Makes British Soldiers Invisible was Discovered by Accident After Long Experiments.

[London Chronicle:] Khaki, the color which renders British soldiers difficult to see, was discovered by a happy accident. The British troops in India wore a cotton uniform which when it was new, was khaki in color, but after a visit to the laundry was indescribable. A Manchester business man, discussing this defect, remarked casually that a fortune awaited the man who could find a khaki dye that neither sun, soap nor soda would fade. A young officer heard the remark, hired a skillful native dyer, and began the search. Years passed in fruitless experiments till one day, turning over a heap of rags, relics of their failures, they chanced upon a piece which was still khaki, though the laundry had worked its will. But it had received no special treatment, so far as they knew, except that it had fallen into a metal dish. That was the secret. The metal of the dish and the chemicals in the dye had combined to produce that fadeless khaki color which makes British soldiers invisible and turned the lieutenant into a millionaire.

Yale University's new bowl stadium will set new attendance figures when the Blue and Crimson line up to the football gridiron game at New Haven Saturday, November 21. The structure somewhat resembles a reservoir, a retaining wall of moderate height is surrounded by a tiered bank. The wall is pierced by a number of entrances, while the main entrance is through a large arch flanked by tall towers. The structure stretches away in a perfect circle, row after row of seats descending like steps to the playing field. There are fifty-seven circular tiers of these seats, giving a capacity for a few more than 61,000 spectators. By the erection of a steel superstructure around the top of the bowl seating arrangements can be made for 100,000 persons should future games warrant the addition.

HARVARD ELEVEN TO BE BANQUETED.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.) CAMBRIDGE, Nov. 29.—Harvard's championship football team is to be tendered a banquet by the students and graduates of the college on December 11, it was announced tonight.

It is planned to make the demonstration in favor of Capt. Brickley's team the greatest of its kind in the history of athletics at Harvard, with covers for 1000 persons in the banquet hall of a Boston hotel. The result of the election of the captain of next year's eleven will be announced at the dinner.

RUDOLPH, GAME WARDEN, SHOT.

MARKET HUNTERS FIRE IN DISPUTE OVER NUMBER OF BIRDS IN BUGGY.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.) SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 30.—The game warden killed yesterday by market hunters on the preserve of the Los Banos Gun Club was George Rodolph, son of Erwin G. Rodolph, superintendent of the meat department of Miller & Lux, Inc., of this city.

Earl Farnsworth, the wounded hunter, it is learned, is a son of G. W. Farnsworth, of San Jose.

Leon Riche, a professional hunter, who carried his wounded companion into Los Banos, said the quarrel arose over an accusation by Rodolph that the pair had too many birds in their buggy. Farnsworth says Rodolph attempted to seize him and drag him from the buggy. In the struggle he was shot and returned the fire.

WILLS OFFERED LANGFORD BOUT.

(BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.) SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 30.—Bert McCullough, matchmaker for the National Club, made announcement tonight that he has dispatched a wire to Harry Wills in Los Angeles, offering him a four-round match with Sam Langford in San Francisco this month. McCullough says that the pair had too many birds in their buggy. Farnsworth says Rodolph attempted to seize him and drag him from the buggy. In the struggle he was shot and returned the fire.

As the bars were put up against Langford when it was announced that he was to go up against two local heavyweights in a local ring, McCullough thought that perhaps the Langford-Wills contest would not be countenanced. The pair of colored millers put up a spirited battle at Los Angeles on Thanksgiving Day and a return match would undoubtedly prove a big card. Langford has agreed to terms and if Wills accepts, McCullough says he will stage the attraction.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 30.—Henry Berry has been granted an extension of time on his option on the Seals. Berry, wanting time to think it over, asked J. Cal Ewing and Frank Ish for a few days of grace.

When Berry settles the selling of the Seals, he expects to speedily put through the deal for the acquisition of the Seals. He explains that he can do nothing in the local matter until

GILLETTE SAFETY RAZOR COMPANY, BOSTON

SWING TAKEN AT RUGBY.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Nov. 24, 1914. Sporting Editor of The Times.

Dear Sir: There is a large bunch here at Stanford greatly pleased with the fight for the American intercollegiate game in California. Anyone who has seen a real intercollegiate game under the new rules is a "non-admirer" of Rugby and its style of play.

An English professor at the head of the faculty Athletic Committee here is the chief obstacle to the return of the American game. I merely wish to state a few reasons (as we see them here) why the California schools should return to the "old" game (as they call it).

(1.) The fundamental reason is that it is the recognized and accepted American college game. Rugby is making no expansion; on the contrary, it is losing ground every day, having been repudiated in Southern California and by the Northwest conference. It is confined to the "bay cities" almost exclusively.

(2.) Rugby is not "per se" an open game and many "forward" plays are more dangerous than the "old" line plunging. The American rules allow you to open up the game as wide as you please and give you the definite possession of the ball. The forward pass, the "loose" interference, the lateral pass and running back of punts give a wide range of open play, even in the "big game" this year, even in the prime condition, and some even made a trip to the hospital. Veterans like Gard, Wylie, Andrews and Reeves took the count. Joe Urban retired to the hospital afterward, and Charlie Austin is threatened with water on the knee. What if they played a schedule like the eastern colleges?

The preliminary games here are games, except for the Santa Clara game, which was more of a "free-for-all" and which, if played under an old-game referee, would have been many more gracing the sidelines for rough and dirty play.

NOT POPULAR.

(4.) Rugby as a game is none too popular, as the infinitesimal crowd out to preliminary games shows—even when season tickets are sold and two or three games scheduled for the afternoon. Of course, the big game is a social event, a reunion, a trip to San Francisco, etc., as well as a game, and doubtless would draw just as big crowds or bigger if we were playing the American game. The paltry crowd that greeted the All-American team in its game the first even after all the write-ups and the sale of tickets by the Belgian Relief and Red Cross (at 25 cents and 50 cents per ticket) was striking evidence of how the game stands as a game. Rugby's so-called popularity is largely a "newspaper" popularity. It can take no credit for the support it has by those who never saw an American game.

(5.) The claim that Rugby is a game which can be better played after leaving school was forcibly refuted by the fact that on all three appearances of the combined Stanford-California Alumni team, undergraduates had to be put in to fill out the fifteen players. There are three clubs in the city of San Francisco playing Rugby to six that are playing the American game. The strong athletic club teams in the Northwest show that the players of the old game play it because they like it, not just when they are in college.

(6.) The Rugby Union of California has been repudiated by the two large universities and has been a failure in its avowed purpose of supplying referees and spreading the popularity of Rugby. It is also, none too sound financially, in spite of the "popularity" of Rugby.

"OLD GAME" PLAYS.

(7.) The surprising thing that one notices in Rugby is that it is the "old" game runs that brings the bleachers to their feet, and not any brilliant kicking or "hooking" the ball on "line-outs." Joe Urban's plunging, twisting and turning, and his "line-outs," showed by the cheers he got that the "old" game spirit was there, even if the large part of the bleachers were totally in the dark as to what a real intercollegiate game looked like. There are not the tense moments on the goal lines that feature the other game, for a score is just as liable to be made from a rush from the 50 as from the 10-yard line in Rugby.

NO CHANGES.

(8.) Past actions have shown that whatever the glaring defects of Rugby rules, the schools are afraid to violate their English sanctity by remedial changes. The repudiation of the new scoring (four for a try and one conversion) and the "imaginary line" through the scrums shows that Rugby will not be changed. The hurdlings, smearing, a fair catch, shoving, dirty tackling and kicking man when he is down in the scrum are countenanced by Rugby rules and referees. It is obvious that the "old" game is not being changed, and that it is not enough for thirty men, anyhow. The Santa Clara game clearly demonstrated that.

Rugby lacks the brilliant formation plays, the versatile interference and attack, the unexpected trick plays and obvious run-out of the "old" game. There is not the man-to-man conflict where the fighting spirit comes for the most. Rugby supporters think of the old game as a series of "wedge" plays and totally overlook the wide "repertoire" of plays that a quarter-back may call for (even including their beloved Rugby pass, which works so well against a slower back field but which, as Harvard showed Yale most conclusively, Western Union Head Apostle of Optimism.

Expects Next Year will be Better than Last.

And Big San Francisco Fair Best in History.

An ambassador of good times arrived in Los Angeles yesterday. He is Newcomb Carlton, genial president of the Western Union Telegraph Company, and apostle of intelligent optimism. In his retinue were a number of the other officials of the big telegraph concern, who have toured the Pacific Coast with the chief executive in the private car "Morse," to get more closely in touch with conditions, to bring a message of good cheer and to strengthen the spirit of co-operation in the various departments of the company.

This is the first of what will hereafter be regular annual tours of inspection. The idea originated with Mr. Carlton, who is a hearty believer in the get-together spirit in a large company like the Western Union.

"The telegraph business is considered one of the best barometers of conditions in the business world," he said yesterday. "We can note the coming of depression well in advance of its actual advent, and can foresee improvement equally well."

"The wires of the telegraph system get colder preceding a period of depression. The messages are not so frequent as when business activities are running along at a steady normal pace. It costs something to send telegrams, and therefore the sending of them has a significance."

From the way the wires have been working lately, however, steady improvement is foreshadowed. Our weekly reports at first showed little sign of improvement in all sections amateur boxer and unusually husky, and he avoided the blow.

Immediately Mr. Cudahy wished to rush about his home. Mr. Coates warned him to temper his language because of the presence of the women. The manager of the hotel was attracted by the confusion, Dr. Coates says, and came to the door. When he opened the door, Mr. Cudahy rushed towards him.

Then came the dramatic incident that resulted in the damage suit. Dr. Coates says Mrs. Coates was hurrying out of the room in an effort to avoid the trouble that seemed certain. He says that she hurriedly stepped into the path of the angry Mr. Cudahy, who was hurrying toward the manager.

"Mr. Cudahy seized Mrs. Coates with both hands," says Dr. Coates, and threw her violently against the table. She winced under the injury but the tumult was so great that she managed to leave the room in her flight, and went directly home, taking with her the three Cudahy children, who were crying.

The doctor then attended to Mr. Cudahy in the method men have with men. His sturdy thumb and rugged forefinger, he said, had much to do with the subduing, especially when they approached each other through Mr. Cudahy's throat. The exercise interfered with Mr. Cudahy's breathing and he signalled, "Peace."

Dr. Coates says he remained with Mr. Cudahy until 3 o'clock the following morning, in an effort to get him into a condition warranting the absence of medical attention. Then he went home, he says, and found Mrs. Coates suffering from severe pains in her back and spine. Later diagnosis of the United States. Later these revealed a tendency to spread.

"If I might use a hygienic simile, I should say that area of contagion increased, until now it is practically normal with 1913. Judging by the contagious map, I should also conclude that business conditions are approaching normal; that by the end of December they will be as good as at the end of the same month in 1913, and that for all of 1915 they will be better than for 1913.

"Regarding what has caused the improvement, I should say first of all that this country possesses far greater powers of recuperation than European countries. This country yields much more readily to treatment. There is not so much inertia, because there are not so many traditions which breed inertia."

Mr. Carlton was Director of Works at the Pan-American Exposition, and he states that he believes the San Francisco fair will far transcend any previous exposition.

MEMBERS OF PARTY.

The other members of the party are as follows: J. C. Willaver, commercial general manager; L. McKelvie, assistant to the president; W. N. Fashbaugh, general traffic superintendent; G. M. Burke, general plant superintendent; W. C. Merly, secretary of the party. All these are from New York.

They were accompanied to this city by the following Pacific Coast officials from San Francisco: C. H. Gaunt, general manager; H. P. Dodge, assistant general manager; C. A. Rhodes, auditor; H. C. Chace, traffic superintendent; J. L. Ord, plant superintendent.

Besides, a number of out-of-town managers of offices in Southern California and Arizona attended the conference held yesterday afternoon with the high officials of the company, as well as the local officials. H. McPherson, local district commercial superintendent, assisted by G. A. Lawrence had charge of the entertainment of the visitors.

Upon their arrival they enjoyed an automobile ride about the city. Later they were guests of Mr. McPherson at the Sierra Madre Club for luncheon. After lunch all the department heads met at the Alexander Hotel, where a general discussion of the details of business following this. The keynote of the president's address was co-operation. In the evening he entertained sixty-five department heads and others at dinner.

The officials of the company will leave today in their private car, journeying East by slow stages. Their next important stop will be at Dallas. They left New York a little over three weeks ago.

he says, developed the existence of a broken rib, another that was wrenched, and an injury to her spine. Mrs. Coates to her best friend, Mrs. Cudahy, had been impaired, he says, and from present indications, he believes the injury to be permanent, and as redress and compensation, he brings the suit that promises to develop a sensation as great as any the sensational Mr. Cudahy has ever experienced in his sensational career.

HUSBAND CHARGES WIFE IS BURGLAR.

Arrested for the second time in eight months Mrs. Frances Osborn, 22 years of age, No. 1244 South Flower street, late last night, was locked in the City Jail. The young woman is charged with burglary, and, according to the police, confessed her guilt. Detectives Wearne and Hamilton of the University Substation arrested Mrs. Osborn at the home of her father, Charles Vennun of No. 1251 East Twenty-fifth street, after her husband had called at the police station and charged that his wife had committed the burglary. The husband asked the police to allow his wife to return the next morning, but his request was refused.

Mrs. Osborn, according to the police, entered the apartments of Miss J. Trumbaux, who lives next to the Osborns and stole clothing valued at about $50. The clothing was recovered by the police.

Mrs. Osborn, who was married about last December, following a three-day courtship, was arrested on March 7, and charged with having passed worthless checks. Detectives will make an investigation of the charges placed against Mrs. Osborn today.

NIGHT'S MANTLE HIDES FIREBUGS.

Ghastly Centaurs Speed to Safety in Darkness.

Flames Follow Flying Feet of Two Fugitives.

Avenging Poses Patrolling Santa Barbara Hills.

(BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

SANTA BARBARA, Nov. 30.—Two kerosene cans found by Sheriff Nat Stewart on Inspiration Point trail and in San Ysidro Canyon mutely tell of the work of two oil-throaters in last night's fire epidemic. Two men are being sought.

One, dressed in khaki and riding a big bay, was seen galloping through the brush. In his wake a sheet of flame sprang up. The other, on a dark horse, was only seen like a fleeting shadow dashing up San Ysidro Creek to the signal of a pistol shot.

Several large fires are still blazing. In their fitful light the citizens of Montecito organized a vigilance committee, which started in early today to co-operate with Sheriff Stewart in his diligent search for the pyromaniacs.

Every indication points to the fire-finders being people familiar with that country. The rider on the bay horse took a blind trail along the ridge above Mountain drive, known to few, and joined his companion at the head of San Ysidro Creek, on the La Cumbre trail, from which both escaped through paths unknown to the public.

Robert Johnston, one of the owners of San Ysidro cottages in Montecito, reported to the Sheriff this afternoon there were several shots in quick succession in San Ysidro Canyon and the echoes had not died away before two pillars of flame shot up on opposite ridges. He and Robert Cook, a guest at one of the cottages, firmly believe the shots were signals to start the fire in that district.

Ralph O'Gillivie, driving a big auto for the Forestry Service, sped past the bay horse rider, who had turned into the brush, but did not know the horseman was suspected. The rider was first detected by H. M. Orris of Mountain Nook.

"He reined in his horse, dismounted, and before he could spring into his saddle again, flames were spreading over the ground," said Orris. "I ran for him, but he disappeared down the trail and as he bounded along one fire after another sprang up."

That residences were not destroyed is due to the heroic work of the army of men who fought all night and have continued to contest the flames today. When it seemed as though the entire section would be fire-swept the wind calmed and gave the fire-fighters an opportunity to control the fires.

A vigilance committee will patrol all that section every hour of the day and night until rains fall. It is realized that a determined conspiracy is afoot to burn out all that country and the temper of the property owners is such it will go hard with the firebugs if caught redhanded.
